

WAR FRONT WITHIN SIGHT OF ROME

RED BOMBERS
SINK GERMAN
CONVOY SHIPSTRANSPORTS SENT TO BOTTOM OFF
NORWAY COAST

London, Saturday, May 27. (AP)—The Russians reported early today that bombers of the Red fleet air force had attacked German troopships in the Barents Sea, north of Norway, early Friday morning, sinking two transports and a destroyer and damaging three others.

The Soviet announcement in a midnight war bulletin did not specify whether the transports were carrying new German forces to Norway or withdrawing troops already there.

Earlier the Germans, in a communiqué, had reported the attack on their convoy and claimed to have shot down 69 of 80 attacking planes. The Russian bulletin said only seven bombers were lost in repeated "mass attacks with bombs, gunfire and torpedoes."

This was the first time in months any large scale German troop convoys have been reported in Arctic waters.

The Soviet communiqué supplement said the convoy consisted of five transports, five destroyers and other "guard ships" and an air cover.

Ground Fighting Quiet
Transports sunk, the Russians said, had a displacement of 15,000 tons. The Soviets also claimed they had shot down 10 German planes.

There was virtually no ground activity along the extended eastern land front, the supplement said, the only skirmishes being southeast of Stanislawow where for weeks the Germans have been making reconnaissance raids.

A battalion of Germans, Moscow said, yesterday attacked Soviet positions near a hill and some succeeded in penetrating first line defenses but the entire group was thrown back by a counter-attack.

German commentators continued to claim that a big new Soviet offensive was brewing and declared that they knew where the blow would be struck.

Other Moscow dispatches told of the formation of new Russian air transport fleets, apparently being readied for resumption of the campaign against the Nazis.

OPA Expert Traded
Gas Coupons For Groceries, Is Claim

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Jesse Gorman Wheatley, transportation expert serving on the Office of Price Administration's central mileage rationing board, was charged today with trading gasoline coupons for groceries.

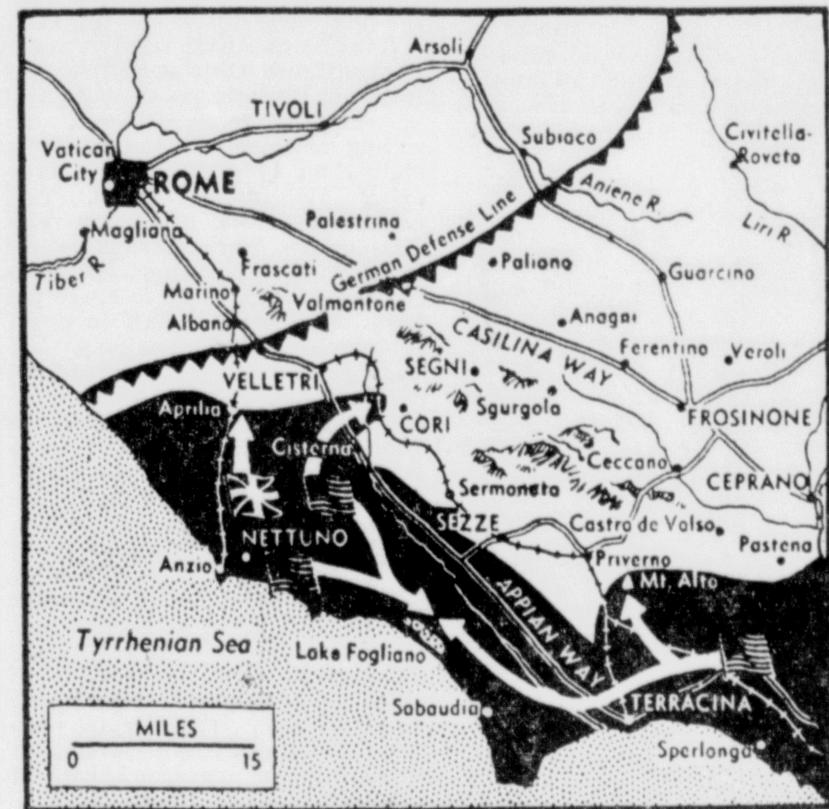

Dismissed by the OPA, Wheatley was brought before U. S. Commissioner J. Stanley Hurd who ordered him held in $500 bond for hearing June 6. Wheatley stood mute.

The OPA accused Wheatley, 39, of trading 100 C-3 coupons good for 500 gallons of gasoline to an acquaintance for $15 worth of groceries.

Shoemen To Make
Soles Last Better

Washington, May 26. (AP)—Shoemakers are urged to make soles last longer by using the impregnation of sole leather with oils and wax so as to make civilian shoes wear at least 25 per cent longer, the war production board said today.

Military requirements have created a serious situation in sole leather, a WPB spokesman told the conference.

LAST DITCH STAND—The battle of Italy came to a climax Thursday as troops from the Anzio beachhead and from the main front met near Lake Fogliano in a spectacular advance of more than 60 miles in 14 days. The Germans fled to the Alban hills, where they may make another stand.

Eisenhower Pronounces
Invasion Forces Ready

BY JAMES M. LONG
London, May 26 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, whose word will hurl the full might of an Allied invasion upon the Nazi-bound continent, returned to supreme headquarters today after a swift inspection tour of British land forces under his overall command, well pleased with the thorough training of this army Britain has assembled to wage vengeance for the Dunkerque of four years ago.

He pronounced the men fit and ready for their part in the job to come—and that probably was his word to their king, whom he

BY D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer
A home-stretch drive for support of Gov. John W. Bricker's candidacy for the Republican presidential nomination was begun by the Ohio's managers yesterday (Friday) with the first of a series of "good-will" luncheons at the capitol in Washington. Every Republican member of congress will be invited at one time or another during the next few weeks.

Rep. Ed Rowe of Akron, who held the first of the luncheons, attended by a dozen House Republicans, told a reporter afterward: "Several of my guests were strongly committed for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey when they arrived for lunch, but left with open minds."

While Rowe was host to the congressmen and several of Bricker's campaign managers, Gov. Bricker himself arrived home in Columbus from a swing through Texas, Louisiana, and Tennessee and told reporters he had found "many delegates" who would support him at the Chicago convention starting June 26.

Bricker, Dewey and Gov. Earl Warren of California, all GOP national ticket possibilities, will speak at the governors' conference in Hershey and Harrisburg, Pa., next week. It will be Dewey's first address away from New York in many a month.

Legislative Graft
Trial To Be Held
At Mason June 12

Lansing, May 26 (AP)—Trial of 23 defendants accused by Circuit Judge Leland W. Carr's one-man grand jury of conspiring to corrupt the legislature will be held in Mason instead of Lansing, the prosecution announced today. Special Prosecutor Kim Sigler said some of the big battery of defense attorneys objected to the plan to hold the trial in Lansing, and that "we'll give them their way and hold it in Mason."

Ingham county has county seats in the two cities, and in normal course of rotation of court sessions the trial would have been in Mason.

The defendants are accused of conspiring through bribery to manipulate the shaping of laws regulating small loan and finance company operations to suit their own purposes. The trial is to open June 12 before Circuit Judge John Simpson of Jackson.

visited briefly upon his return from the field.

In Moscow, declaring that this whole great fighting alliance was poised on the "threshold of new events which will be historic," the official Soviet newspaper, Izvestia, said that "the day is not far distant when the world will see Anglo-Soviet-American military might develop in all its power."

For their part, the Germans expect Allied power to reach its climactic maximum by this summer, according to the Nazi news agency DNB.

Seeking to take the edge off German tension, drawn taught by 18 months of faltering defense topped by looming defeat in Italy and merciless battering by Allied bombers, DNB in a long dispatch went back to its favorite hint that Germans would not wait forever for the invasion.

But the effect of waiting on German nerves was demonstrated in Denmark, where the Nazis arrested the chief of the entire Danish security police in Jutland, as well as the police commissar and chief of Aarhus and the chief at Tondern, according to Copenhagen reports reaching Stockholm.

No explanation was given, but Danish sources in Stockholm said the action was taken because of continuing espionage and sabotage in Jutland, a vital defense sector in Hitler's fortress.

BRIDGE BOMBER
IS REPRIMANDEDPilot Destroys Railway
Span, But It Was Not His Target

London, May 26. (AP)—Capt. Randall W. Hendricks, Thunderbolt fighter-bomber pilot of Youngstown, Ohio, destroyed a vital bridge by himself behind Hitler's west wall in Belgium— but drew an official reprimand, nevertheless because he wasn't assigned to that target.

Hendricks with other Thunderbolt pilots was on the way to bomb a target in Belgium when he spotted a bridge and flew down and attacked it.

"It was a double track railroad bridge across a ravine and I came down the ravine below the level of the bridge," Hendricks said. "One of my delayed action bombs struck a support while another struck through the arch. Climbing up I looked back as the center of the bridge went down."

When he returned to base a reprimand by Col. Gilbert L. Myers of Milford, Iowa, awaited Hendricks for bombing the wrong target.

Bridges are one of the most difficult targets in the bombing war, and often whole formations take several missions to destroy a single structure.

Damaged Freighter

Port Huron, Mich., May 26 (AP)—With temporary plates protecting a 16-foot gash in her port side the freighter Dow Chemical Company headed for Toledo tonight to get final repairs.

The vessel, which collided with another freighter on foggy Lake Huron Wednesday, received the temporary repairs in Sarnia Bay and her 2,600-ton cargo of coal was removed and taken on to its Bay City destination.

Outnumbered Japanese facing inevitable defeat are clinging doggedly to remnants of their north Burma base at Myitkyina. Allied commanders reported yesterday (Friday).

Superior Allied forces, firmly established on the nearby airfield and outskirts of the town, apparently were waiting for native troops driving down from the north to get closer to Myitkyina before unleashing their final smash. More Allied reinforcements were flown in between rainstorms while mortars and machineguns frustrated every Japanese attempt to escape from the trap or to bring in relief columns.

CAROLINES RAIDED
Washington, May 26 (AP)—The Navy announced tonight that Army and Navy planes had attacked Kusaie and Ponape Islands, both in the Carolines, and also had bombed enemy positions in the Marshalls.

Eastern India Safe
Nippone columns in eastern India which once threatened to undermine the Burma action faced a similar plight. Some 8,500 dead Japanese Imperial troops have been counted in the area. Others are encircled, and their supply lines cut.

Minor Japanese retreats were reported in southwest Burma, and on the Salween river front of China northeast of the Burma border. A Chungking spokesman said the Chinese were mistaken when they claimed earlier this week that the old Burma road had been cut. The confusing similarity of the Chinese names had misled the Chinese themselves, and the capture of Chifang was erroneously reported as Chengang.

The same spokesman admitted the Japanese probably have taken Loyang, former capital of China, as Tokyo radio claimed the previous day. Radio communication between Loyang and Chungking was cut off.

Sixth Army Stopped
Tokyo radio belatedly reported the American carrier strike on Wake indicating the attacking planes may have temporarily knocked out radio facilities on the central Pacific island. Tokyo usually reports such attacks first.

It claimed 39 American planes were shot down. The American communiqué Thursday said none was lost at Wake.

Land-based Navy planes from the Aleutians bombed Shumushu, northernmost of the Kurile Islands, Wednesday for the seventh time this month.

Southwest Pacific bombers at the other tip of the Pacific front raided Bik in the Schouten Islands for the twenty-second time.

CITY OF LOYANG
FALLS TO JAPSChinese Admit Contact
With Ancient Town
Is Cut Off

BY SPENCER MOOSA
Chungking, May 26 (AP)—The Chinese command announced late tonight that contact with the ancient Chinese city of Loyang had been cut and an official army spokesman said that it probably had fallen to strong Japanese forces which have been besieging it for days. Tokyo claimed capture of the city yesterday.

"Since the night of May 24 the enemy has been making continuous attacks on Loyang," said a Chinese communiqué. "Since yesterday morning the situation at Loyang has been obscure, as contact with the defenders has been cut."

Maj. Gen. C. C. Tseng, army spokesman, said that although the city probably had fallen he could not announce it formally until he had received confirmation. Loyang, six times capital of China, lies in northwestern Hunan on the Lunghai railway, guarding an historic approach to interior China.

The Japanese drive through Hunan westward toward Shensi Province has been halted at its main points, Gen. Tseng said.

Roosevelt Implies
Europe 'Liberation'
May Not Be Far Off

BY WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Washington, May 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt dropped a hint today that the Allied offensive against Europe is not far off, saying the actions coming off this summer ought to be called the liberation rather than the invasion of Europe.

In a news conference, Mr. Roosevelt also said he hoped to have another conference with Prime Minister Churchill but was indefinite as to the time.

Asked if he expected to see the British leader this summer, he said in the summer, the fall or the late spring.

"Why not winter?" a reporter asked.

He didn't like to travel, particularly on the Atlantic, in the winter, Mr. Roosevelt replied.

It was not developed whether Mr. Roosevelt, by saying the late spring, meant this year or next year—which would be after the inauguration of the president elected next fall.

In a discussion of postwar planning, Mr. Roosevelt said ideas for a postwar plan for over-all security have been reduced to a rough draft and, in response to a question, that he was finding Russia a satisfactory and cooperative collaborationist.

OFFICER TO DIE

For Pistol Foray

BY FRANK FRAWLEY
Camp Anza, Calif., May 26 (AP)—Standing erect and seemingly emotionless, 2nd Lt. Beaufort G. Swannett today heard a courtmarshal's recommendation that he be hanged for the gunfire murder of his girl friend and three other persons last March 5.

The 12-officer board deliberated an hour and a quarter before its president, Lt. Col. Duncan P. Frissell, emerged from an ante-room, ordered the La Crosse, Wis., officer to stand and announced the decision.

Handcuffs were clapped immediately on Swannett and he was led to a wheelchair to return to the camp hospital where he is recovering from police bullets that ended his murderous foray with a service pistol. A chain was linked from the handcuffs to the chair.

"Oh, hell," Swannett said as he was wheeled out of the room, "I forgot my cap."

Somebody returned to the counsel table for the overseas cap and placed it on his head.

Later the officer, who had testified his mind blanked out before the shootings, told a reporter: "I told the truth. That's all I could do. I am not afraid to die."

LONDON TRAINS JAMMED

London, May 26. (AP)—Disregarding repeated warnings to travel and that trains might be canceled suddenly, Whitson holiday crowds by the thousands besieged the main London railway stations today. Every train was jammed and many persons were left on the platforms.

McCarran announced that the full judiciary committee, of which he is also chairman, would meet June 3 to consider the subcommittee's report. He invited interested persons to file briefs.

The boys in my hut have to go about a mile to flying line and about a quarter of a mile to eat. Breakfast ends at 8:00, and like human beings the world over they get up just in time to run fast and beat the breakfast deadline by five seconds.

They eat at long wooden tables, sitting on benches. But they have white tablecloths, and soldiers to serve them. At supper they have to wear neckties and their dress blouses. The officers' club bar opens half an hour before supper and some of the boys go and have a couple of drinks before eating. As everywhere else in England, the whisky and gin are all gone a few minutes after the bar opens.

The enlisted crewmen eat in a big room adjoining the officers' mess. They eat exactly the same food, but they eat it a little differently. They line up and pass through a chow line. White porcelain plates are furnished them, but they have to bring their own knife, fork, spoon, and canteen cup.

When they are through they carry out their own dishes and empty anything left over into a garbage pail, but they don't have to wash their dishes. The enlisted men don't have to dress up, even for supper.

Everybody feels that the food is exceptionally good. Since I've been here we've had real eggs for breakfast, and for other meals such things as pork chops, hamburger steak, chocolate cake and ice cream.

Of course both of these messes are for combat crews only. Ground personnel eat at a different mess. They don't have

KEY RAILROAD

SOUTH FRANCEAERIAL OFFENSIVE
AGAINST EUROPE
IN EIGHTH DAY

BY W. W. HERCHER
London, May 26 (AP)—Between 500 and 750 Italy-based American heavy bombers blasted rail yards at Lyon, funnel point for Nazi defenses in southern France for the second time in two days today, and ripped other rail installations in the south of France, bringing a furious aerial offensive against fortress Europe into its eighth straight day.

The weather halted the heavy offensive from Britain after a devastating week in which more than 32,000 Allied aircraft battered pre-invasion targets with some 35,000 tons of bombs. American Thunderbolts operating as fighter-bombers attacked enemy airfields and rail targets in northern France in the afternoon, however, and Britain-based Mosquito bombers resumed their harassment against Nazi installations in the same area, attacking without loss.

WARD SEIZURE

Firm, Says Senate

Washington, May 26 (AP)—In stinging language, a senate judiciary subcommittee took to task today every government agency concerned in the Montgomery Ward case and declared President Roosevelt had "no constitutional or statutory authority" to order seizure of the firm's Chicago properties.

The conclusions of the majority, Senators McCarran (D-Nevada), chairman, and Revercomb (R-W. Va.), were sharply criticized in turn by the third member of the subcommittee, Senator McFarland (D-Ariz.).

Refusing to sign the report filed with the full committee, McFarland filed a statement which said the interested parties an opportunity to be heard" and had based the report "solely upon documentary evidence" and "the conclusions of investigators whose testimony is necessarily hearsay and second, or third-hand."

The subcommittee held no public hearings, but sent investigators to Chicago. Its investigation of the case was made under a special senate resolution directing such an inquiry.

McCarran announced that the full judiciary committee, of which he is also chairman, would meet June 3 to consider the subcommittee's report. He invited interested persons to file briefs.

Robichaud was accompanied by his attorney, Richard J. Fitzmaurice of Orange, who said he would fight the extradition proceedings at the hearing.

The defendant was paroled in custody of his counsel by police Judge Ernest F. Massini at First Precinct Court.

MONETARY PLAN

Governments To Take Part In Conference

BY GEORGE ZIELKE
Washington, May 26 (AP)—President Roosevelt sent out a call today for a conference of the United and associated nations on post-war money problems starting July 1.

He invited 42 governments, including the French committee of liberation, to send representatives to Bretton Woods, N. H., for consideration of proposals which include:

1. An international monetary plan, revolving around an $8,000,000,000 gold-based stabilization fund, providing for a value in gold for each nation's currency and restricting fluctuations of any country's market transactions in money of other countries.

Under this plan, announced last month as an agreement in principle among fiscal experts of more than 39 nations, the United States would provide between $2,500,000,000 and $2,750,000,000 of the fund; Britain would furnish $1,250,000,000 and Russia $1,000,000,000.

2. A $10,000,000,000 international bank for reconstruction and development—a sort of world RFC.

ALLIES REACH
LAST DEFENSE
LINE OF NAZISSTRONGHOLDS FALL;
VELLETRI SAID
TO BE DOOMED

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Allied Headquarters, Naples, May 26. (AP)—Hard-driving veteran American tank and infantry forces tonight apparently were pushing the Germans steadily out of Velletri, strong-point of the Nazis' new "last-ditch" defense line 16 miles below Rome.

The Americans in a companion drive today smashed six miles beyond newly captured Cisterna and took the Germans' mountain stronghold of Cori.

Late tonight Daniel De Luce, Associated Press correspondent with the Fifth army south of Rome, reported that fires were raging in Velletri and that there were indications that the enemy had pulled his artillery back into the hills out of the city.

Enemy In Flight
He said there still were some pockets of stubborn enemy resistance near Velletri, but indicated these were being cleared up, quoting the captain in charge of one tank force as reporting his men had killed 200 Germans in mopping up a single position.

The Allied armies swept ahead on all fronts, headquarters announcing the capture of nine towns and half a dozen important heights.

The plunge to Cori carried the beachhead forces nearly halfway from Cisterna to the Via Cassilina, escape highway for tens of thousands of German troops hastily falling back toward Rome from the shattered Hitler line in the Liri valley and adjacent mountains. The imperiled enemy forces represented the bulk of the German 10th army.

There was evidence the Nazis were aware of the danger and were withdrawing with all speed toward their new defense line. Today they abandoned lofty Monte Cassino, eight miles further west. San Giovanni, at the southern edge of the Liri valley and four miles from the Via Cassilina, also was evacuated in the retreat. San Giovanni had been the scene of extremely bitter fighting in recent days.

BULL DELIVERY SET FOR TODAY

22 Farmers Of Delta And Menominee Counties Purchase Sires

Twenty-two farmers, 17 of them from Delta county and five from Menominee county, will at 11 o'clock this morning at the state fair grounds receive young bulls from good lower Michigan herds, which they have purchased under a plan developed by the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau with county agricultural agents cooperating.

The bulls arrived in Escanaba Thursday by truck from lower Michigan, where they had been selected earlier by George McIntyre, dairy specialist at the Chatham experimental station. Yesterday the animals were cleaned up and made ready for delivery to their purchasers.

The delivery of the bulls to the farmers will be an occasion without particular ceremony, although it will mark an important step toward the improvement of dairy herds in the Upper Peninsula. It is the first consignment of bulls to be received in a program which calls for the delivery of a total of 97 so far purchased.

George E. Bishop, secretary-manager of the Development Bureau, will speak briefly. Dairy Specialist McIntyre will advise the farmers on the pedigree of the bull they have purchased, and the care the animal should receive.

Also present will be E. A. Wender, Delta county agent, who has assisted in the plan to bring better bulls into the county, and J. G. Wells, Chatham experimental station superintendent, and county agent leader.

The Delta county farmers who will receive bulls today are:

Four-Vote Margin Saves FEPC Fund

WASHINGTON, May 26 (AP)—A four-vote margin saved one of President Roosevelt's most controversial agencies, the fair employment practices committee (FEPC) tonight as the house passed the $1,033,358,367 war agencies appropriation bill.

Less than an hour before a roll-call vote of 247 to 55 sent to the senate the omnibus measure financing almost a score of home front war agencies for the year starting July 1, the house tentatively had refused to include in the bill a $500,000 fund for FEPC and then reversed itself to restore the item.

FEPC was set up by the president with instructions to assist in ending job discrimination because of race, color, or creed.

KEY RAILROAD YARDS HIT IN SOUTH FRANCE

ers participated in the operation, in which one Marauder and one Thunderbolt escort were reported missing. One enemy fighter was shot down.

The Marauders, racing 40 miles southwest of Paris for their 17th attack on Luftwaffe bases in seven days, were reported to have caused heavy damage at Chartres. The flak there was intense, but lighter elsewhere, returning pilots reported.

P-47 and P-38 fighter-bombers bombed two airfields, machine-gunned another and bombed a bridge in northern France. The American planes claimed 13 FW190s were destroyed on the ground and four JU88s probably destroyed during the strafing of a field at Cornelles, 480 miles inland. Fields near Creil were attacked by one group of P-47 fighter-bombers, while another struck at a field near Evreux, 55 miles northwest of Paris. The latter group claimed destruction of three locomotives on the way home.

Luftwaffe Loses 306
At midnight the German radio warned that "single nuisance raiders are approaching west and southwest Germany."

The Fortresses and Liberators operating from Italy ripped into Lyon and the surrounding area and attacked rail installations at St. Etienne, 40 miles to the southwest; at Vaise, at the northwest edge; at La Moucha at the southeast edge and at Chambray and Grenoble.

The heavies also smashed rail yards at Nice and at the Var river bridge five miles to the southwest on the French Riviera.

Few enemy fighters were encountered. In aerial combat during the week the Luftwaffe lost 306 planes in their futile attempts to stop the aerial torrent of exploding steel, and more than 200 additional planes were damaged or destroyed on the ground.

Combined Allied losses computed from all available sources were put at 368 planes—about 1 per cent of the total forces employed. In both theaters the losses were broken down into 70 American heavy bombers, 100 RAF heavies, 98 American fighters, 24 RAF fighters, eight American medium and light bombers and 68 aircraft not distinguished by type in the communiqués.

One of the most dramatic operations of the week was the daring series of sweeps through Germany, France and the low countries by more than 2,000 Allied fighters, which, for a loss of 60 planes, shot up 303 locomotives, more than 120 aircraft on the ground, 35 military trains, and 12 barges. It was the largest combined offensive sweep of the war.

SEES SHORTAGE OF CONTAINERS

Growers Of Vegetables And Fruits Advised To Be Prepared

Fruit and vegetable growers in the Midwest were warned by Angus C. Doane of the Office of Distribution, War Food Administration, to line-up an adequate supply of shipping containers immediately, or face the probability of inadequate supplies to market their products.

“If prospective crops of fruits and vegetables materialize, there won't be enough shipping containers to move the commodities to market unless producers line-up their container requirements early and take advantage of available supplies of salvaged containers,” Mr. Doane warned.

“The supply of new containers is limited by lumber, labor and the direct needs of our war program, and will fall 25 per cent below the anticipated grower needs even though the 1944 crops should only equal those of 1943. We know that acreages of most commercially grown vegetables are much higher this year and the prospect for crops are good. Fruit yields this year will exceed those of 1943, according to present prospects.”

It was explained that the shortage of new shipping containers is due to a number of reasons: Since 1941, lumber production has dropped from 26.5 billion board feet to 34.6 billion board feet, while lumber requirements for shipping purposes has increased from 5.5 billion board feet to 16.5 billion board feet during the same period. Much of the huge demands for lumber for shipping requirements is due to the quantity of boxing, crating, and dunnage needed for the shipment of war materials. Labor shortages too, have curtailed the production of wooden containers.

The supply of containers was barely adequate to move the 1943 crop of fruits and vegetables which were much smaller than that anticipated in 1944.

To meet the threat of Allied mass bombing raids, the Germans have developed a force estimated at 500 operational night fighter planes.

Sums Distributed On Intangible Tax; Escanaba's $5,487

Lansing, May 26 (AP)—The latest distribution of money under the state intangible tax law was made today by the state revenue department.

Allocating $1,944,947 to cities, villages and townships, state Revenue Commissioner Louis M. Nims said it amounted to 37 cents per capita, compared with 30.14 cents in 1941, the first year of the tax, 34.5 cents in 1942, and 35 cents in 1943.

Large cash reserves held by businesses unable to replace inventories and increased collection efforts accounted for the increase, Nims said.

Among the major sums distributed were: Escanaba, $5,487; Iron Mountain, $4,099; Ironwood, $4,946; Grand Rapids, $60,788; Ishpeming, $3,511; Marquette, $5,893; Negaunee, $2,530; Menominee, $3,875; Muskegon, $17,647; Muskegon Heights, $5,937; Wyoming township, Kent county, $7,546; Detroit, $600,677; Warren township, Macomb county, $7,971; Nankin township, Wayne county, $5,860; Houghton county, $17,623; and Keweenaw, $1,481.

Stand-ins Doing All Right In Strikeouts

BY JACK HAND

New York, May 26 (AP)—The strikeout kings went off to war when Bobby Feller of Cleveland and Johnny Vandermeer of Cincinnati joined the Navy but their stand-ins are giving a fair imitation of the real thing.

Jack Kramer of the St. Louis Browns, leads the majors today with 43 victims as the clubs neared the quarter pole in the present campaign. Chunky Max Lanier of the Cardinals and Al Javery of Boston, top the National league with 37, not including the number Lanier whiffed today in the fray with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Last year Vandermeer's 174 was good enough to lead the back and Albie Reynolds of Cleveland, paced the American loop with 151. Vandy is gone and Reynolds has been accepted by the Navy but still is hurling and has whiffed 26 batters so far.

ALLIES REACH LAST DEFENSE LINE OF NAZIS

man long-range guns battered the beachhead for nearly four months. The town is only nine miles from where the Via Cassilia intersects the new German defense line at Valmontone.

Already the war was within sight of Rome. The German radio reported that the flash of heavy guns could be seen at night from the house-tops of the Eternal City.

Swarms of Allied fighter-bombers continued their merciless attacks on German road and rail transport in the battle zone, derauling several trains, destroying more than 400 vehicles and damaging 300 others today. This brought the total of enemy vehicles destroyed or damaged by air attack in the past three days to 2,590. As a result of these blows the Nazis were being forced to abandon much equipment.

An air force spokesman said the Germans had been rushing reinforcements from north of Rome into their new defense line for two days, but declared highway conditions were “chaotic” on both sides of the Italian capital.

German Losses Heavy

The count of German prisoners taken in the 15-day-old offensive passed the 12,000 mark and was growing rapidly during the enemy withdrawal. If the proportion of killed and wounded follows the usual pattern, the Germans already have sacrificed possibly a fifth of the manpower of their 17 divisions south of Rome.

Over a two-mile stretch of the historic Apennine Way between still-smoldering Cisterna and Velletri, Daniel De Luce of the Associated Press reported that he counted nine of the Nazis' great 60-ton Tiger tanks gutted by fire, and abandoned, as well as over 20 self-propelled guns and half-track vehicles.

American and French forces, driving forward against bitter Nazi resistance in the mountains near the center of the line, captured Monte Civitella, northwest of Pico, Monte Civitella, west of Vallecorsa, and other important points. Littorio, center of the model farms developments in the Pontine marshes between the west coast and the Apennine Way, fell to American troops without a fight in the General German withdrawal from that entire region.

The Mediterranean air forces flew a total of 3,000 sorties yesterday, including a long expedition by heavy bombers into France. Of 80 German planes encountered, 20 were destroyed. The Allies lost six heavy bombers and six other craft.

The United States is scheduled to build 110,000 aircraft in 1944.

Worry Clinic

With Case Records Of
A Psychologist

BY DR. GEORGE W. CRANE
CASE C-254: Karl J., aged 45, is a brilliant advertising executive.

"One of my large clients has suddenly got hepped on the subject of psychology," he informed me.

"So he has hired a consulting psychologist to assist in charting a new advertising policy."

"I have handled his advertising in past years, and through the depression have helped increase his volume of business 700 per cent, so you can see there wasn't much wrong with our methods."

"But he likes scientific phrases and since he never had much education, he has a great yen for scientific phraseology. You know the type of man, I'm sure."

"Well, this psychologist has cooked up an elaborate and detailed questionnaire covering four full pages. He had 89 questions in it when I last saw it, some of which were even broken down into subheads."

Good Psychology is Horse Sense
Now I ask you, Dr. Crane, how can any psychologist with horse sense ever evolve such a complicated questionnaire, especially when it is to be applied to busy housewives?

"A woman would have to give up half her morning or afternoon to answer all of these questions. Besides, she couldn't give correct answers to many of them without making an inventory of her pantry."

"If this psychologist had ever gone out on the firing line and done some actual surveying, he would have found that 8 or 10 questions are plenty in a questionnaire."

"Indeed, in advertising circles, we'd rather ask three questions of 1,000 people and then shift to a second 1,000 for the next three queries, for this promotes more ready cooperation from the public."

"This psychologist reminds me of the brain trusters in the government who are now sending out tons of questionnaires, many of which are so large they won't even fit into a typewriter, and some of which have wasted half a full line of space for such a simple entry as the date, which could be inserted in a half inch dash line."

Diagnosis

We have many good psychologists in America who possess "horse sense" and can practice what they teach.

But we also have far too many of the theoretical or brain-truster type who can evolve far-fetched but beautifully complicated procedures that will not work, or don't mean much even if they will function.

Remember the song "It goes round and round and comes out here?" We have plenty of that type of psychologist.

You intelligent readers can well realize how the latter type of psychologist likes this column. You don't need even two guesses! If I didn't also possess an M. D. degree in addition to a Ph. D. and have a psychology textbook adopted by over 300 colleges and universities, they would have tried to brand me as a quack.

I belong to a group of "horse sense" psychologists who keep our feet on the ground and try to help you meet life's problems successfully. We ignore the chaff and present the grains of wheat.

But there is this other group of "nonsense" psychologists who have never got within a mile of the firing line of real life, and who snoop around in the Library of Congress to read what somebody else has done.

They throw out a lot of chaff and affect a scientific vocabulary as they spit hairs in abstract fashion. They try to correlate everything and generalize from white rats to mankind.

But they have no more gumption or practical experience than the governmental braintruster who decided village hardware merchants should dole out to the farmer only half a spool of barbed wire!

Imagine, 89 questions on a house-to-house questionnaire! This advertising executive is a far better applied psychologist, even without a Ph. D., than the other man. So, too, are you readers.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 3c stamped, addressed envelope and a dime to cover typing or printing costs when you seek personal advice or one of his psychological charts.)

Church Events

Service at Rock
Church services will be conducted by Rev. David L. Carlson at the Rock town hall on Sunday, May 28, at 10:30 o'clock.

Engadine

Joe Freeman moved his family on his farm three miles west of town for the summer.

Mrs. Minnie Brock who for many years operated the Hotel Engadine, has closed the hotel and moved to Detroit. The hotel is owned by the Freeman Lumber company, and it is expected that it will be reopened at an early date.

Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Brock and daughter, Donna, who made their home at the Hotel Engadine left for Detroit last Sunday. They were accompanied by Mr. Brock's mother, Mrs. Minnie Brock, who will make her home in Detroit.

Mrs. John Steel has accepted a position as cook in a camp north of Newberry. She will be employed by George Hide.

Mrs. August Manti and sons, Albert John, and August Edward, of Marquette are spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. George Simmonds. Mr. Manti, who is employed in Marquette, spends the week ends with his family here.

John Richardson and family, who formerly resided on a farm south of Gould City, has purchased the home formerly owned by Mrs. Gus Hahn on the south side of the railroad, and has moved his family here. Mr. Richardson is employed as a section hand at the present time.

Tech. Sgt. Sigfred Faundrick of Camp Hale, Colorado arrived here last Friday and will spend a fifteen day furlough with his wife, and son, James, and parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Friskv.

Miss Antonio Crnkovitch of Flint arrived here Saturday night and will spend a two weeks' vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Crnkovitch.

Clarence Bevard and children of Green Bay spent Sunday with Mr. Bevard's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bevard. Mr. Bevard is employed in the shipyards at Green Bay.

Mrs. Fred Beck left last Sunday for Lansing where she is employed. Mrs. Beck left her daughter, Patricia Susan with her mother, Mrs. Alvina Collins.

Annual Poppy Sale Will Be Conducted Today

The annual poppy sale of memorial poppies, in customary observance of Poppy Day, will be held today under the sponsorship of the American Legion Post and its Auxiliary. Mrs. Evelyn Schmeltzer is Auxiliary chairman and Clifford Vadnais, Legion chairman, of the sale.

The sale of the crimson flowers will be conducted throughout the day by the Camp Fire Girls, under the supervision of their leader, Margaret Wade.

As few people know what the arrangements are for making these Memorial Day flowers, Mrs. Signe Nerbonne, Auxiliary president, explained that the materials are furnished free to the veterans by the American Legion Auxiliary. Volunteer workers teach the disabled men to make the poppies. The entire poppy program, from the supplying of the poppy materials to the distribution of the finished flowers to the American public, is under the management of the Auxiliary.

"The veterans and their dependents are the ones who benefit from our poppy sale," she said, "not only from the money that results from selling poppies, but also from having something tangible to do instead of having to rest, read or talk. These men in the government hospitals are delighted to keep their fingers busy and their minds occupied with the intricacies of fashioning the poppies. Needy wives and children also reap benefits from the sale of the flowers."

"We have been selling these Memorial Day flowers for twenty-four years and each year the poppy becomes more closely identified with the American Legion Auxiliary and with our disabled men. We hope the service will continue indefinitely."

Mrs. Hibbard Is Named to State Office at Meet

Mrs. Wallace Hibbard, present Mother Guardian of Escanaba Bethel, No. 9, Job's Daughters, was appointed and installed as Grand Librarian at the fourth annual Grand Session of Job's Daughters of Michigan, held recently at the Durant Hotel in Flint.

Mrs. Hibbard's daughter, Mary Elizabeth, who is Honored Queen of the Escanaba Bethel, also attended the Grand Session, and was present at the ceremonies at which her mother was installed in the state office.

Escanaba Bethel, it was announced yesterday, was given honor mention for the biggest contribution in the state to the promotional and educational fund of the organization.

A value of $1,000,000 has been placed on England's annual honey harvest.

Red Cross Rooms To Close Tuesday

Red Cross production rooms will be closed on Tuesday, May 30, in observance of the Memorial Day holiday. Mrs. R. W. Haddock, chairman, announced yesterday. The rooms will reopen on regular schedule Wednesday morning.

Maude King of Nahma Bride of George Belongia

Miss Maude King of Nahma, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter King, and George Belongia, also of Nahma, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Belongia, of Gladstone, were united in marriage at a ceremony which took place Tuesday morning, May 23, at St. Andrew's church in Nahma.

The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Nolan McKevitt, who was celebrant of the seven o'clock nuptial high mass.

Mrs. Clyde Tobin was organist and soloist at the ceremony. Attending the couple were Miss Bernice Johnson of Chicago and Albert King, brother of the bride. The bride wore a powder blue dress with navy accessories and a corsage of red roses and snapdragons. Miss Johnson wore a suit of rose shade and a corsage of spring flowers.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, immediately following the ceremony. The couple left on a short wedding trip after which they will return to Nahma to make their home.

Black Record Continues

NEWS of strikes and strike settlements continue to occupy front page space in most of the newspapers of the land. The fact that work stoppages are being recorded on such flimsy excuses as the recent tie-up of Chrysler plants, in Detroit, caused by a dispute as to what union should be allowed to deliver pop at a war plant, cannot but create public wonder if the "no-strike" pledge of the nation's unions isn't just another piece of paper. Not a day passes that does not witness a walk-out of workers in some war industry plant, some where in the nation. In the majority of cases jurisdictional disputes, between Union officials, and similar unimportant excuses are accepted as grounds for work stoppages, that hinder our national war production effort.

Every honest union man must regret these developments just as thoroughly as does the general public. But it is the GI Joes, in the military forces of our nation, who are fighting and dying in order that an old fashioned American way of life may be preserved, who should be and are most disturbed.

If the present continuous strike record is not halted there will be workers walking out of plants on "D-Day," which should be the most solemn day for the people of America, in all the history of this land.

If that should occur unionism will achieve a bolt on its record that will be mighty hard to explain when those same GI Joes come marching home.

More Good Advice

OFFICIALS of the Michigan Liquor Control commission, at a meeting held in Escanaba Thursday night, again reminded licensees that they must observe the law to the letter if they are to curb the wartime trend back to prohibition.

Vendors were particularly cautioned against the sale of liquors to minors, a practice that has caused more criticism of the industry than any other offense. The officials pointed out, however, that most licensees do not want the juvenile trade, but sometimes they make the mistake of not learning the age of youthful-looking customers. Under a new state law, persons 21 to 25 years of age may obtain personal identification cards from the county clerk to prove themselves eligible to buy liquor at drink establishments.

Abuses committed by the old-time saloon paved the way for the enactment of prohibition laws in the first World War. It is an experience that should be a valuable lesson to the liquor interests now that the nation is now engaged in a second World War. Prohibition could return if the same mistakes are made again.

No Secret Anymore

AFTER the Japanese struck their devastating and dastardly blow at Pearl Harbor, our Navy department was very secretive for many months about the number of ships put out of commission and how many remained in service.

Then, our fleet was weak, and we did not want to give the enemy any of our military secrets. The tables have been turned, however. Announcement in Washington this week by Artemus L. Gates, assistant secretary of the navy for air, that 65 aircraft carriers are now in active service with the fleet reveals we no longer worry about keeping our military strength a secret. The reason is, of course, that we are achieving such overwhelming superiority that it is good psychological warfare to boast about it.

When Hitler launched his blitzkrieg in Europe, his frightening propaganda paved the way for easy military successes. The mere threat of the destructive use of aerial bombing and other arms enabled the Nazis to take Austria and Czechoslovakia without any fighting. The Germans also resorted to the bombing of Warsaw, Rotterdam and other cities to terrorize the inhabitants and destroy their fighting morale. It was for this reason that Poland, Holland, Belgium, Denmark, Norway, Norway and France fell without much of a struggle.

The Nazis were able to employ the psychology of terror when they were able to back up their threats and boasts with actual military superiority. It helped them to achieve victories with only meager sacrifices of manpower and equipment.

Now, the shoe is on the other foot. The Allies are achieving superiority in the air, on the sea and land, and when they unleash their might in all their fury in the invasion of the continent it will be the Nazis who will be on the receiving end of the newest version of "lightning war."

4-H Program Effective

RECOGNITION is coming from many quarters of the outstanding contribution the 4-H clubs are making in the all-important job of producing food for our armed forces, our allies and the civilians here at home.

The Chicago and North Western railway has announced it will present 51 awards to midwestern boys and girls showing outstanding proficiency in 4-H club work this year. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau also has been devoting much effort toward the expansion of this worthwhile farm youth program.

Last year, 1,700,000 4-H club members produced enough food to feed a million fighting men, and this year they are accepting the challenge to produce even more.

In the Upper Peninsula the 4-H club movement is in its 25th year. The boys and girls have been engaged in varied projects since the inception of the program—garden, dairy, canning, potato, poultry, food preparation, pig, sheep, conservation and beef projects. Many of the youths, who learned the fundamentals of sound farming practices in their club projects a decade or so ago, are now operating profitable and productive farms in the Upper Peninsula.

After the war is over, the Upper Peninsula's hopes for expanding its agricultural industry will be pinned much on the boys and girls now enrolled in the 4-H club program. This is a program that should interest chambers of commerce, service clubs and other civic organizations in the urban centers which, after all, are largely dependent upon a prosperous farming in their trading areas.

City groups can help to lay the foundations for a larger and more diversified agricultural economy by encouraging the formation of additional 4-H clubs. Here is a chance for a boys and girls work program that will build character and bring highly worthwhile economic results. It is much better than super-abundant talk about juvenile delinquency that never seems to get anywhere in solving the problem.

CITY MANAGER PLAN

(Marquette Mining Journal)

Ishpeming's new, and first, city manager reports for service this week. There will be much interest in other peninsula cities that have been toying with the idea of adopting the city manager plan to see what he is able to accomplish.

The plan is unquestionably sound. But it is not fool proof. It is only as good as the ability of the city manager and the wisdom of the elective board to which he must account permit it to be. The manager must have ability in a wide field of activities and tact in relationships with the board that employed him and the public. But the best equipped manager will find himself thwarted if he has to deal with a board of commissioners, or aldermen, who lack a sound conception of their part in the city manager plan. If they have been in public service in their cities prior to the adoption of the plan they must forget much of what they had learned, or believed they had learned, about city administration. This is not easy.

It is difficult for those schooled in the ways of politics to put politics behind them and for those accustomed to tinker with details of administration to be content with formulation of policy and to turn administration entirely over to a manager who shall be responsible for carrying out policy.

Yet unless the governing, and employing, board is content with determining policy, and upholds the hands of its managing agent in all matters of administration the city manager plan turns out to be neither fish, flesh nor fowl and falls far short, if it is not a gross failure, of realizing its possibilities.

Most of the failures of the city manager plan have been due to failure of the elective boards to see clearly the part they should have under it.

Take My Word For it

WORDS TO WATCH

The word PREVENTIVE is often seen in print and heard as "preventative." It must be that the erroneous "a" is the result of falsely associating the word with "representative." At any rate, there is no "a" in preventive, and the only sanctioned pronunciation is: pre-VEN-tive.

One of the most tenacious mispronunciations in the American vocabulary is "kwin-TUP-let" (also "kwin-TOOP-let") for the word QUINTUPLET.

Likewise it is incorrect to accent the second syllable in quadruplet and septuplet.

The three words should be accented on the first syllable only. And the "tu" of quintuplet and septuplet should have the long "u" sound as in "few, pew." Be sure to say:

KWIN-tyoo-plet
KWAD-tyoo-plet
SEP-tyoo-plet

Again, "Effete"

Recently, I discussed the almost universal misuse of the word effete in the meaning of "highly cultured; refined; superior in intellect." This mistake is seen regularly in the writings of our very best authors, most of whom, on being told that effete means "exhausted; worn out; without energy," will smile understandingly and remark, "Ah, that Colby! He does have irrational moments, you know."

Joseph J. Thorndike, Jr., in the April 17th issue of LIFE (page 58): "To the effete yachtsmen of Long Island Sound, used to sleek lines and gleaming brass, it (Herbert's cruiser) might seem an unlovely craft."

The yachtsmen of Long Island Sound will be fully justified in denying vigorously that they are "effete."

World War In The Air

BY MAJOR A. P. de SEVERSKY

In a dispatch in the middle of March I recommended that the ratio of our losses should be watched as the surest index to how the all-important Battle of Germany, in the skies over Fortress Europe, is going. On the basis of this index, using the cost in machines and men as a barometer of success or failure, I believe there is no longer any doubt that the tide of the aerial battle is running strongly in our favor.

Seversky

Airmen have been, on the whole, more restrained in their judgment of the strategic air assault on Hitler's stronghold than lay observers. For one thing, they have been more aware of the enemy's defensive strength and less inclined to confuse stirring evidence of gallantry and heroism with military decisions. Gallant and heroic men sometimes lose notwithstanding.

—WINNING AIR BATTLE—

I have therefore been deliberately conservative in analyzing the progress of the action. But at this stage, in studying the operational losses and the character of the missions in which they are sustained, I am definitely of the opinion that we are winning the air Battle of Germany. If we do not let up the pressure, if we continue to accelerate our operations, if we do not suddenly divert the strategic striking air power in some other direction, the time may not be far when the industrial set-up in Germany will be so demoralized that genuine armed resistance will collapse.

Personally I should not be astonished if, between now and winter, long before our soldiers set foot inside Germany's frontiers, a German airplane painted white were to land at the Croydon air-drome with a request for armistice. A successful invasion would in itself attest our victory in the Battle of Germany, since command of the skies is the irreducible first condition for successful invasion.

Examining reports of our losses in 1943 and in the early part of 1944, it is clear that as far as costs in absolute figures are concerned the Germans had the advantage. No juggling of "box scores" can change this fact. Attacking vital strategic targets, we were sacrificing planes at a ratio of not less than 3 to 1 in favor of the Germans, when the total aggregate weight rather than numbers of planes lost are considered. Due to the fact that the action was taking place over enemy territory our losses in men were roughly 10 to 1—that is, it cost us 10 Americans to destroy one German flier.

The absolute figures remain the same. We still lose about the same number of machines and pilots in any given action. But perceptually the picture has changed in our favor, because we have been able to expand the magnitude of the operations. The number of planes lost in any single attack used to be roughly 10 per cent. The number of planes sacrificed is still the same, but now it represents roughly 5 per cent of the total, since the striking forces are nearly doubled in size.

—GERMAN LOSSES RISING—

It means that although we are presenting a larger congregation of planes, the Germans cannot enlarge their force of attacking planes. We are engaging their maximum defensive strength. But what is of paramount importance: the destruction we impose upon German industries is rising in relation to our investment of losses.

Some months ago, in order to demolish a given objective, we might have required two raids, each by 500 bombers. Today, with our greater facilities, we can send 1000 bombers and finish the job in one mission. We still lose, let us say hypothetically, 50 bombers per raid, whatever its size. But that means the destruction of the target at a cost of 50 now, as against a cost of 100 in recent past. In this—in the scale of operations—I see the most encouraging signs of the approaching victory. We cut our losses in two or in three when we double or triple the attacking force. (Of course, I have taken arbitrary figures and used them in elementary fashion, with a view to conveying the idea more clearly.)

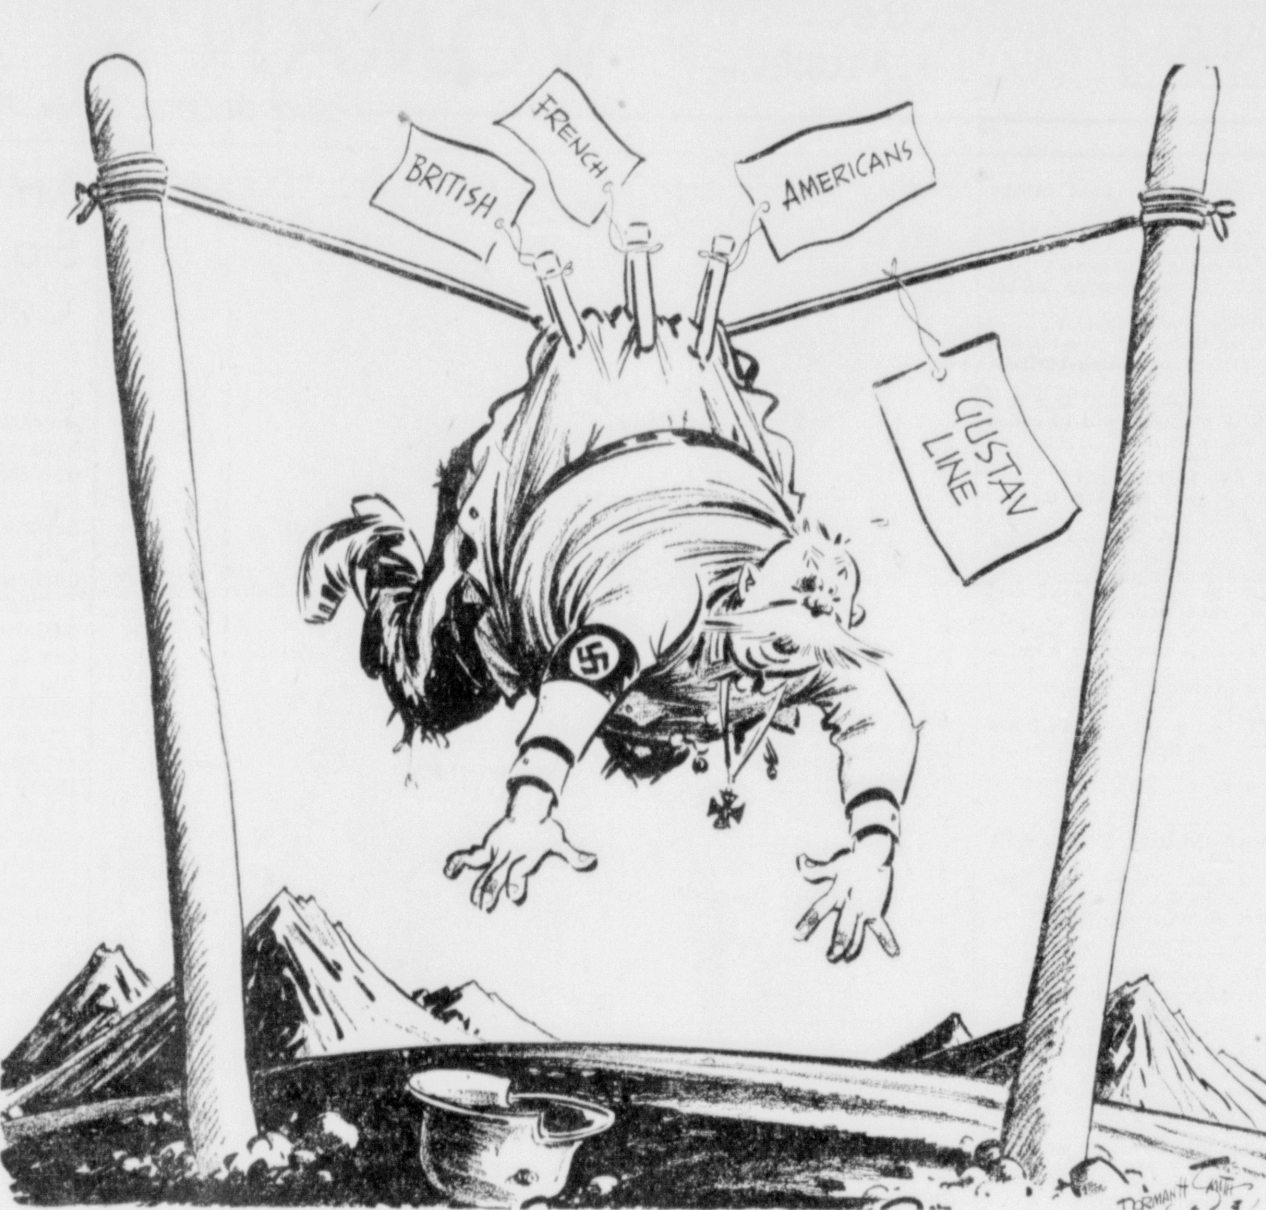

The actual extent of German industrial losses cannot be stated in firm figures. The action of air power on ground industrial targets does not show up immediately. It is latent. There are time lags, depending on the phase of production damaged or destroyed. Thus the destruction of the assembly lines of factories will be felt at the front and by the air forces sooner than, let us say, the destruction of steel mills.

Without knowing the absolute size of demolition, but with fairly good indications by reconnaissance and aerial photography, our air leaders can make decisions as to whether operations are profitable or not in relation to losses. Apparently the Anglo-American chiefs of the aerial offensive against Europe are satisfied both with our ability to replace losses and with the results obtained.

The effects of aerial attack, if it is not relaxed, are cumulative. They snowball and accelerate. Every item of destruction multiplies the paralyzing consequences of every other. To put it in simplest terms, ten blows in rapid succession are worth a hundred spaced weeks apart. In aerial attacks continuity of action is of the essence. We can say confidently that all these factors are working in our favor. In ground warfare, everyone can see and measure immediately the damage done and the territory seized. To understand the results of air warfare calls for scientific understanding of the dynamics of aerial demolition. All the indications point to our victory in the air.

Well, a little inquiry brought from Bevier Butts, city recreation department director, the whole envelope, self-addressed, to Frank Colby, in care of this paper.

Good Morning!

By The Bugler

BOYS AND BOATS—The arrest recently in Escanaba of a barmaid for serving beer to four boys 16 and 17 years of age, who were spending a day or so ashore from an ore boat on which they were employed, reveals a situation which should arouse the concern of all parents.

It has caused leaders in education to wonder what the result will be in the future, when boys of this age are freely accepted into private employment, causing them to abandon their schooling.

Dunathan The Bugler recognizes that in war, that conditions today are not normal. He recognizes that a manpower shortage exists.

But there is no commonsense reason why it is necessary to take boys of 15, 16 or 17 years of age out of school and put them into private employment. Not when there are hundreds of thousands of able-bodied older men who continue to hide away in non-essential jobs.

What is most important is the effect on the minds and bodies of our boys who leave school to take jobs in industry. Thousands will never complete their high school training. Other thousands will, by reason of their employment, suffer injuries which may permanently disable them. In almost every case the boy will encounter persons and social conditions which will affect his morals, his health and his personal outlook on life.

One can only wonder if their is such a demand for boy-power as to cause boys 16 and 17 to work on ore boats—and spend evenings in port at taverns.

ASSESSOR TROUBLES—At a meeting of county, city, township and school officials at the court house Wednesday night there was discussion of that perennial government problem: Tax revenue, or that's gold in them hills!

There may be gold in the hills, but there's little valuation in a cut over forty in Garden township, said Supervisor Harry Greene. This statement was supported by Supervisor Omer Tanguay of Bark River township. Both agreed that right now the wartime emergency made some of the forties valuable because of the pulpwood and shortstuffs on them—but after the war—well, they look forward to a time when, if valuations are too high, additional lands will revert to state ownership.

But what the Bugler set out to tell you was some of the trials and tribulations of the assessing officers. In the county this responsibility falls on the supervisor. In the cities the work is done by appointed officials.

Supervisor Greene believes there are no two or more men who would set the same valuation figure for the same piece of property. To prove it he told of an instance some years ago when he and five other gentlemen decided to make a test of their assessing ability. Each of them made an estimate, compared them later. None were within $50 of the other.

Be that as it may, the law has established certain rules by which assessments shall be made on the basis of true cash value of the property. If the law is followed, total valuations in the county and cities may go up, or they may go down—but the resulting equalized valuation will be fair and equitable for all.

PRaiseworthy — The Bugler's attention recently was directed to the so-called "deplorable condition" of the city tennis courts nets at Ludington Park. These nets, the tale went, were all patched.

Well, a little inquiry brought from Bevier Butts, city recreation department director, the whole

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON

(Lt. Col. Robert S. Allen now on active service with the Army)

Washington—General Eisenhower has just issued an order which will mean all the difference in the world to harmony between U. S. and British troops during the invasion.

He has ordered that all American Red Cross entertainment centers and other recreational hostels shall be open to all Allied troops, and that prices shall be lowered to meet the pay of the lowest-paid soldier.

This may not seem so on the surface, but to those familiar with the unfortunate feeling between British and American troops in England, it is all important. It goes back to the fact that American troops are the highest paid in the world, and have been able to put British troops in the shade socially through superior buying power.

When British Tommies see their girls go off with strangers who can afford to buy them a better time, it doesn't help morale. In addition to this, the American Red Cross has taken over various big mansions in England and transformed them into comfortable, sometimes luxurious recreation centers for American troops.

This has been an excellent thing—except in one respect. British troops, seeing American soldiers living off the fat of the land, with mansions at their disposal, have resented it.

General Eisenhower felt that it would not be good for Allied cooperation if British troops, when near an American recreation center, should be met with a "Keep Out" sign. Naturally, British hostels will be open to American troops also.

NOTE—American Red Cross centers in England are managed by well-trained Americans, but a big part of their staff, aside from the top people, are volunteer British workers.

FIRST NEGRO CONGRESSWOMAN?—New York Democrats, in the past accustomed to electing a Democratic Congressman from Harlem, largest Negro community in the world, now admit privately that Harlem probably will elect a Republican this year.

Furthermore, the Republicans will probably send the first Negro Congresswoman in history to Washington. She is Mrs. Sarah P. Dugan, recently nominated on the GOP ticket to run from New York's new 20th district.

Opposing Mrs. Dugan will be flamboyant Adam Clayton Powell, Negro clergyman, newspaper publisher and left-wing member of the New York City Council.

Mrs. Dugan comes from one of Harlem's prominent families. Her husband is a doctor who formerly played with a jazz orchestra. She herself is one of the most successful criminal lawyers in Harlem.

Meanwhile, Herbert Bruce, Negro leader of Tammany Hall, has refused to support Mrs. Dugan's opponent, Adam Powell. This, together with the zeal of Negro women to elect one of their own sex to Congress, probably means certain Republican victory.

MERRY-GO-ROUND—Without any breast-beating, Henry Kaiser did a whale of a job in operating the Brewster Aeronautical Corporation for the Navy, and didn't take one cent of pay. He put the company's plants on an efficient, up-to-date basis, and the fact that the Navy finally discontinued production had nothing to do with his management.

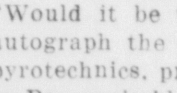

Quite the contrary... The shipping boys are staging a terrific lobbying drive on Admiral "Jerry" Land to up the valuation on vessels, increase compensation when ships are lost, and boost their profits in other ways. Taxpayers should keep an eye on Jerry to see if he gives... Banker Jesse Jones has now branched out as an expert on the shipping business. He has just written quite a tome on post-war shipping from down in Texas, where they shoot straight and write hard. St. Casady, editor of the McAllen (Tex.) Monitor, has written Senator McKellar of Tennessee: "Would it be too much to ask that you autograph the enclosed clipping of verbal pyrotechnics, preferably with a pen dipped in Pearson's blood, and return it to us for our scrapbook?" The clipping was a report of McKellar's speech in the Senate denouncing this columnist.

Driving flies away from the baby is the greatest shoo value we know of.

There's always a bright side! With folks unable to drive to vacation spots, we won't have to look at so many vacation photos this summer.

Too much money doesn't have a chance to go to the average man's head these days. His landlord, butcher and grocer get it.

The Berlin radio claimed 3,500,000 Allied troops were massed in southern England awaiting D-Day. Later on we'll tell you how many Germans are messed.

H. B. LAWRENCE IS PENSIONED

Conductor Ends 42 Years Of Service With C&NW Railway

When H. B. Lawrence of Kingsford, formerly of Escanaba, arrived home about 7 o'clock last evening from Green Bay, Wis., he had made his last run as brakeman-conductor for the Northwestern railroad, completing 42 years of service begun in 1902 at Powers.

Born March 26, 1879 in Princeton, Wis., Mr. Lawrence remained there until he was 17 years old. He came, then to the Upper Peninsula, and at 18 went to work on a farm at Powers, remaining there two years.

Thereafter he helped build the Spalding sawmill, before going to work for the American Railways Express at Powers. He was married July 2, 1898, at Powers to Miss George Reichardt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Reichardt.

Started in 1902 Remaining at Powers with the Express company for two years, Mr. Lawrence was transferred to Peshtigo, Wis., where he continued with the company until 1902 when he returned to Powers and started work as a brakeman for the North Western. In 1918 the family moved to Escanaba, remaining here 20 years, and then to Green Bay, for five years.

On April 20, last, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence moved into their present home, in Kingsford, where they plan to remain.

Congratulations were being received today also from one daughter and four sons of the couple. They are Mrs. H. O. Bourke, Wausau, Wis., and Frank Lawrence, music and art instructor at Schwenksville, Pa.; Alfred, first lieutenant in the Medical Corps, now an auditor in the Chief Surgeon's office at Washington, D. C.; George, technical sergeant and engineer in the Army Air Forces, now on a bond-selling tour through the west and mid-west, and Herbert Lawrence, proprietor of a grocery store in East Kingsford.

Souvenirs of Pearl Harbor Tech. Sgt. George Lawrence was at Pearl Harbor when the Japs struck, and has sent home several unique souvenirs of that experience, including a corking plaque bearing the Army shield, properly inscribed and presented to the men of the Air Forces who served heroically on that fateful day.

Conductor Lawrence has definite plans for the future.

"I have so many plans I hardly know where to begin," he said, looking about the house where much "settling" remains to be done. "First, we have to get fixed up here, and that will take some work, inside and out. I want a garden—vegetables and flowers. It will all take time.

"Then," and he smiled, "there's the fishing and hunting." Mr. Lawrence has a cabin south of Powers. "These two sports are my favorite hobbies and, believe me, I'm going to do lots of it from now on." Mrs. Lawrence concurred heartily in that—for she likes the same things.

"Railroading has been good to me," Mr. Lawrence concluded. "I have enjoyed the experience; met a great many people, and had some fine associations in the service. But I am satisfied, now, to leave it. And I'm going to make every moment count."

Roosevelt's Prejudice Causes Mess In France

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

Washington—Time is running out. Even now it may be too late. American troops are about to invade the continent without any real understanding having been reached with the forces of French resistance.

This can be put down to the prejudice of one man. That man, Franklin Roosevelt. The responsibility is his. The decision he has taken is a grave one.

Inquiry I've made indicates plainly that others within the Roosevelt administration would like to reach a written understanding with General DeGaulle. Probably General Eisenhower would like to reach such an understanding.

The commander-in-chief of our invasion forces has been cooperating with fighting Frenchmen who will have a part in the big undertaking. Some have hoped this would be a practical substitute for the kind of agreement which General DeGaulle has sought.

Linked with DeGaulle But it can never be that. From all the evidence available, the underground movement in France ties in closely with the organization outside of France that DeGaulle heads. The courageous men and women who have kept free France alive during all the long, painful, sordid months of occupation will never understand the failure to treat with their leader.

The British, who have to live across a narrow strip of water from the French, know this very well. They've been hinting broadly for a long time that they would like to see the matter settled. Any misfortune growing out of the fact that no agreement has been reached can, and rightly, be blamed on the United States.

Prime Minister Churchill, on Wednesday, supported the American position against any preliminary recognition of the French National committee. This is taken here as a victory for American policy. Events may prove it to have been a dubious triumph.

General Eisenhower has been issuing instructions to French patriots on how they are to cooperate with the invasion begins. But he cannot tell them he is speaking in accord with General DeGaulle whom they recognize as their leader.

We're so far off that it's hard to understand what this must mean. If the circumstances were reversed, however, there'd be no doubt what we would feel. Imagine this country west of the Alleghenies in the grip of a brutal Fascist occupation with an heroic underground resistance led by men and women daily risking their lives. Then a combined British-American-French army plans an assault. American patriots are told what to do by, say, a British general.

That sounds pretty fanciful, but it's more or less the case in France today. A foreigner is "instructing" French patriots, who besides the pride of their courage, have the ancient pride of the French race, the French tradition.

Personal Prejudice? The source of President Roosevelt's prejudice is difficult to trace. Some ascribe it to personal prejudice against DeGaulle growing out of their meeting in North Africa. That, it seems to me, puts it on too pretty a level.

Several people have argued the subject with the president, inasmuch as any argument is possible with him. What he comes back to is that no one can know the real feeling in France; no one can judge the extent of DeGaulle's support. Therefore it is necessary to wait until we have reoccupied the country and can determine where authority really lies.

He talks of Frenchmen who owe allegiance neither to DeGaulle nor to Vichy without giving any clue as to who these people are or on what leader they might focus their strength.

Partly the president's attitude may have been colored by certain French exiles who have seen him occasionally. These are charming, cultivated men who in some ways represent the best of the old France.

Like the DeGaulleists, they look back with loathing on that other France with the weight of corruption that it carried. Unlike the DeGaulleists, however, they fear a new, revitalized nation that may take untrodden paths. Exiled from a world that is dead, they shut out all thought of the one still to be born.

That world will be born either with our help or without it. The men who lead French resistance have no doubts. They have faith in the people of France.

Of course, this question is bigger than France. All of Europe will watch to see what we do when we go in to liberate the first occupied country. Perhaps it is still not too late to act.

SAULT MAN DROWNED

Sault Ste. Marie—Aza Mayer, 28 year old Sault man, drowned at Bay Mills at 2:30 yesterday afternoon when a boat he and a companion were in, capsized and threw them into the water. He went down a few minutes later.

The body was recovered at about six o'clock by Coast Guardsmen searching under Chief Petty Officer Richard Lawrence in the 38-939. They, and the crew of the 74-311, had dragged about an hour.

POSTWAR AIRPORT PLANNED

Marquette—Because Marquette county owns 14,000 acres of land in Sands township which has been rated by military authorities as exceptionally well suited for use as an airport, it is the consensus among Marquette county supervisors, expressed at their meeting Wednesday, that all efforts made to bring about postwar establishment of an airport in this county should be concentrated on development of that site.

The subject was brought before the board by its chairman, T. J. Nicholas, and William Gray, county road superintendent, who attended a conference, held in Marquette a few days ago, at which representatives of the state board of aeronautics discussed postwar airport planning with county officials and representatives of the cities of Marquette, Ishpeming and Negaunee. The conference is preliminary to the Upper Peninsula airports meeting to be held in Menominee June 14 and 15 under sponsorship of the state board.

GOING TO INTERLOCHEN

Marquette—Miss Ruth Esther Hillila, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Hugo M. Hillila, has recently received from Dr. Joseph E. Madry, president and director of the National Music camp at Interlochen, announcement of her acceptance as a member of the camp for this season.

Miss Hillila, 16, is a piano pupil of Mrs. A. L. Swanton and a voice pupil of Miss Ruth Craig. Prior to coming to Marquette she majored in the flute and also plays the violin, cello, and drum.

She is organist and choir director of St. Mark's Lutheran church of which her father is the pastor.

WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Services And Parade To Feature Observance In Escanaba

Memorial Day services commemorating the heroes of World War I will be held in Escanaba Tuesday under the sponsorship of the American Legion. It was announced yesterday by Elmer Swanson, general program chairman.

Early morning services in which the Legion firing squad will participate under the direction of Clem Corcoran will be held at St. Joseph's and Gardens of Rest cemetery. Services for the nation's sailor dead will be held at 10 a. m. in the city park near the municipal dock.

Services will be held at Bark River at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

In Escanaba the parade will form at 10:15 a. m. on Ludington street near the municipal dock and proceed from there down Ludington to Lakeview cemetery, where a memorial program will be held.

The program at the cemetery will include numbers by the Escanaba city band, and by the Drum and Bugle Corps. The principal address of the day will be the Rev. L. R. Lund of the Norwegian Lutheran church. There are other program features scheduled, and will be announced in a complete program tomorrow.

J. J. Bartella will be master of ceremonies and William Miron is officer of the day.

Upper Peninsula IOOF Will Meet

Ishpeming—Almbeck lodge, Odd Fellows, will be host to delegates and visitors at the ninth annual spring session of the William J. Collins association here Saturday, June 3.

The William J. Collins association was founded in 1935 at Escanaba with Escanaba, Gladstone, and Negaunee as charter members. Since then it has grown to embrace all lodges from Pequaing to the Soo and from Ishpeming to Menominee.

Among guests at the sessions will be J. Paul Kuhn, presiding officer of the International Order; Charles H. Leonard, Hastings, grand master of Michigan; Glenn K. Hammel, Kalamazoo, grand secretary; James H. Trebilcock, Wakefield, deputy grand master; and Lowell Patterson, Flint, grand conductor.

SUPERINTENDENT—Lawrence Klug, who has been principal of Rapid River high school, has resigned to accept the position of superintendent of the Wells Township Schools. He will assume his duties with the opening of the school term this fall.

Started in 1902

Remaining at Powers with the Express company for two years, Mr. Lawrence was transferred to Peshtigo, Wis., where he continued with the company until 1902 when he returned to Powers and started work as a brakeman for the North Western. In 1918 the family moved to Escanaba, remaining here 20 years, and then to Green Bay, for five years.

Pallbearers were James Doran, Joseph Morin, Gasper Rivest, George Rivest, Charles Webber and David Moreau.

SCOUT COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

S. N. Bradford, District Executive, Presented To Scout Leaders

S. N. Bradford, new Red Buck district scout executive, Thursday night was presented to the executive board of the Red Buck Council at a regular meeting held in the Central Methodist church. The council area includes Delta, Schoolcraft and Alger counties. Bradford will make his headquarters in Escanaba.

It was the last meeting of the executive board as representatives of the Red Buck Council. On July 1 there will be effective a merger into the Greater Upper Peninsula Council, which will make the present Red Buck council one of five districts in the Upper Peninsula.

The same executive board will continue to function as the district board, however. James T. Jones of Gladstone is council president.

Reports were given by committee chairmen and district chairmen. The annual boy scout camp will be held starting July 9 and continuing four weeks to August 6. It was reported that reservations are already being received.

The Alger district chairman reported that a new troop and cub pack is being organized, and that an outdoor court of honor is to be held in the Munising city park Sunday, May 28. At that time Scout Arthur LaVague of Munising will be honored for his act in saving a small boy from drowning May 7 at Twin Lakes. It was reported from Gladstone that a new troop sponsored by the Lutheran church, has been organized.

It was reported from Escanaba that five commissioners have been awarded certificates for completion of a training program. They are A. V. Aronson, R. C. Shaw, L. J. Shaw, Robert Clayton and F. H. Baldwin.

Attending the meeting were James T. Jones, council president, C. E. Hawkins, Irvin Schaub and O. H. Ohman of Gladstone; Fred Hahn, Charles Manson and Lauritz Drevdahl of Manistique; Dr. A. A. Mellon, Verne Floria and Gene Williams of Munising; Howard Dufour, C. L. Harrison, R. C. Shaw, Robert Clayton, Marcel Ashland, A. V. Aronson, E. G. Bennett, Harry Gruber, Capt. Milton Anderson, Carl Wickman, John Lemmer, F. H. Baldwin, H. E. Johnson, Jens Jensen, Rev. Karl Hammar, S. N. Bradford and Clarence Zerbel of Escanaba.

Mrs. Taimi Pajunen Of Chatham Dies

Mrs. Taimi Pajunen, 24, of Chatham, former resident of Rock, died at St. Mary's hospital in Marquette at three o'clock Thursday morning. She had been a patient there for the past five weeks, and had been ill for two months.

Mrs. Pajunen was born in Rock, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Norkooli, and she was graduated from Rock high school in 1928. She had lived in Chatham for the past three years.

She was a member of the Finnish Lutheran church. Surviving are her husband, Charles Pajunen, an infant daughter, Nancy T., ten days old; her parents; a sister, Mrs. Howard Reed, who came from her home in New Milford, Pa., and five brothers, John Norkooli, Rock; Pfc. Henry, stationed at Camp Roberts, Calif.; Corporal Arne, Camp Kearns, Utah; Tech. Sgt. Charles, stationed in the Hawaiian Islands, and Pfc. Paul, serving in Italy. There are several nieces and nephews.

The body will remain in the Swanson funeral home until Sunday, when it will be taken to the family home in Chatham, where funeral services will be held Monday at 1:30 in the home and at 2 in the Finnish Lutheran church with the Rev. A. J. Maki, Marquette, officiating. Burial will be made in Pine Grove cemetery.

William Thornburn Dies In Warton, Ont.

Word was received here Friday of the death of William Thornburn, of Warton, Ontario, Canada, husband of the former Neva Read, who lived in Escanaba for many years. Mr. Thornburn was a barrister and solicitor in Warton. Funeral services were held at Warton and a service will be held today at Port Elgin, Ontario where burial will be made in the family lot.

Legion Group To Attend Baptist Church On Sunday

American Legionnaires and members of the Legion Auxiliary will observe Memorial Sunday by attending in a body special services at the First Baptist church Sunday morning.

Members of both organizations are asked to meet at their headquarters in the K. of C. hall at 9:30 a. m. Sunday and march in a body to the church.

During the services a special flag dedication ceremony will take place. An American flag will be presented to the church by Miss Winifred Orr on behalf of the Sunday school. Legionnaire A. F. Hall will speak briefly on the significance of the American flag.

The Christian flag will be presented to the church by Adrian Little in behalf of the Young People's organization. Significance and history of the Christian flag will be discussed by Rev. William Harrington, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Rev. Harrington's sermon theme will be "The Unknown Great." Special music by the church choir will also be heard.

4-H Members Aim To Feed A Fighter

The aim of 4-H club boys and girls throughout the nation is to "Feed a Fighter or More in '44." So that this slogan may be easily understood, tables have been worked out by the Extension Service that will enable any 4-H member to translate what he is doing in terms of amount of food consumed by a man in the armed forces in 1 year.

For instance, a 4-H boy who raises 1 to 1 1/4 acres of potatoes will produce the equivalent of the annual food needs of a fighter. Five hundred broilers raised as a poultry project would serve the same purpose, as would 50 hens raised for egg production, laying 10 dozen eggs each.

In terms of other projects the equivalent of a fighter's needs would be a sow and 7 pigs raised to 200 pounds; or 2 to 2 1/2 acres of snap beans; or 829 pints of jams and preserves.

This program is of special interest to the older boys and girls in the 4-H program; younger ones will strive to produce enough food to feed a fighter for six months.

In many counties in the United States this past year, 4-H members produced enough food to feed all the men from their respective counties in the armed forces. Such a goal will challenge the imagination and the best efforts of patriotic boys and girls.

News From Men In The Service

Lt. Glenn C. Hamilton, who is in the Army Air Forces in England, recently described an interesting visit that he made to Scotland. Excerpts from his letter follow:

"Gosh, Scotland is really beautiful. We saw the Edinburgh Castle which is built on top of a sheer cliff about 200 feet above ground level. There is just one narrow road up to the castle and the entrance is guarded by a drawbridge with a deep moat below it. There are numerous openings in the wall where cannon protruded at one time.

"We saw the Royal Palace where the king and queen of England stay when they come to Scotland. It is a massive structure of dark grey stone, almost circular with numerous steeples and towers throughout and guarded by huge iron gates.

Scots Are Congenial "We also saw the birthplace of Alexander Graham Bell and also that of Sir Walter Scott in Edinburgh and also saw the Heart of Midlothian about which Scott wrote a novel. It is an outline of a heart set in the street near Parliamentary Square. We drove down the Royal Mile, which used to be the residential district of the royalty and nobility when Scotland had its own king and queen.

"Another interesting sight was a street where a row of bricks laid end to end made a line of demarcation across the street. Along this line are three large S's. At one time the area beyond this line was sanctified and anyone in that area could not be arrested, stopped or attacked. We also visited at Glasgow.

"The people of Scotland are very congenial and hospitable and treat the Yanks royally. They do resent our drinking up all of their Scotch whisky but we don't mind.

"On the way up to Scotland we flew over Nottingham and saw the castle which was the residence of the high sheriff of Nottingham who was always after Robin Hood. Sherwood Forest is just a little ways from there and is now quite a residential area.

"On one of our flights we flew over Shakespeare's home at Stratford-on-Avon. We also have flown over many places that we studied in English literature."

Negaunee Plans Iron Ore Exhibit

Negaunee—Feature of the local observance of the hundredth anniversary of the discovery of iron ore on the Marquette range near Negaunee in 1844 will be an exhibit in the high school here which will be open to the public from July 1 to August 20, sponsored jointly by local groups, the Marquette Historical Society, and mining companies.

The exhibit will furnish a visual record of the iron mining industry in the northern peninsula of Michigan.

B-2 AND C-2 TO BE INVALID

These Gasoline Ration Coupons No Good After June 1

B-2 and C-2 gasoline ration coupons—the old-type B and C rations without serial numbers—will be invalid for use by consumers on and after June 1, the Office of Price Administration has announced.

Supplemental rations renewed since March 1 have been issued in the form of serially-numbered, strip-type B-3 and C-3 coupons. The bulk of B-2 and C-2 coupons still outstanding June 1 will therefore be unused rations issued before March 1, and renewable before June 1.

The holder of such unused coupons may bring them in to his local war price and rationing board for exchange. The board may either issue serially-numbered coupons equal to the amount of gasoline still outstanding on the old ration, or may evaluate his mileage needs and issue coupons sufficient for the remainder of the ration period, but not in excess of the coupons surrendered.

Service stations which have received B-2 and C-2 coupons before June 1 have until June 10 to turn them in to their suppliers or exchange them at their boards for inventory coupons. Distributors have until June 20 to deposit these coupons in their ration bank accounts.

Invalidation of the B-2 and C-2

YOU can help prevent disastrous forest fires!

CARELESSNESS starts more than 200,000 forest fires in the United States every year.

Carelessness destroys millions upon millions of feet of timber, now a critical war material. It cripples watersheds that supply hydroelectric power to war industries. And the fighting of forest fires diverts precious labor from factories and farms.

Many persons who start these fires toss away matches and cigarettes that aren't dead out. Many others burn to clear plow land or logging slash or grass or debris and—the fires they started break away into searing, roaring flames that destroy timber, forage, wildlife, and beauty that may never be replaced.

Each of these persons forgot—for a moment. And each thoughtless act was as destructive as if it had been the act of a saboteur.

YOU can help prevent disastrous forest fires by observing the four simple rules illustrated here when you're in forest areas. And by seeing that others observe them.

ATTENTION, BRUSH BURNERS!

More than 6 million acres are burned, yearly, because of YOUR careless use of fire in clearing plow land and burning logging and other slash and debris. Do your part this year.

Remember:

1. Don't burn without a permit from a ranger or fire warden.
2. Don't burn during unusually hot, dry, or windy weather.
3. Scrape a trail or "plow around" areas to be burned.
4. Have help handy till the last spark is dead

REMEMBER THESE RULES:

Crush out your smoke

Down your campfire—then bury it

Break your burned match

IF YOU BURN SLASH

First—get a permit
Last—kill every spark

ALL URGED TO WEAR A POPPY

Legion Auxiliary Will Sell Memorial Flowers

Today residents of Gladstone are called upon to observe Poppy Day by wearing one of the little red flowers made by disabled service men in Michigan veterans' hospitals in memory of the service which left many to suffer for years, while many of their dependents are in want.

The flowers will be sold by members of the Legion Auxiliary, a group of high school girls and some Legionnaires. The sale is made under the auspices of the Auxiliary to August Matson Post, American Legion.

Funds received go for the relief of disabled veterans and their dependents.

The little red flowers, packed in neat boxes, have arrived and have been counted and arranged for distribution to the volunteer workers who will offer them on the streets today.

The poppies are paper replicas of the wild European poppies which bloomed on the battle fields in France and Belgium during World War I. It was this flower, growing between the rows of wooden crosses above fresh battle graves, which inspired the famous poem, "In Flanders Fields" by Col. John McCrea. Since the war the flower has become recognized throughout the world as the symbol of war sacrifice.

There is a story behind each little flower. Each poppy has been made individually by some disabled veteran who through his work has been able to help himself or his family in the long struggle against the handicaps of war disability. Often there is a tragic and pathetic story wrapped in each of the flowers.

Former Gladstone Youth Is Honored Twice for Bravery

A former Gladstone boy, Tom McGee, Benton Harbor, has been twice honored for bravery in action. McGee is a nephew of Miss Mary McGee, city.

The following story is from a service publication:

"For exemplary performance of duty as a soldier and a leader in a major operation, a Michigan-born 32-year-old soldier son of Benton Harbor has twice been honored within the span of 14 days—by promotion in grade and award of a medal—while serving on the front lines in this northern Solomon's stronghold.

"He is Sergeant Thomas H. McGee, veteran of more than 18 months of overseas service, who was advanced from the rank of corporal for 'exceptional leadership ability' and two weeks later was presented with the infantry's coveted new award for 'exemplary conduct' in action against the enemy, the Combat Infantryman badge.

"The medal, designed to give long due recognition to the army's foot soldiers, consists of a silver rifle on a blue field with a silver border, imposed on an elliptical silver wreath. It is to the infantry what 'wings' are to the Air Force.

"McGee, leader of a 37-man infantry anti-tank gun squad, landed here last November with the 37th Infantry, first army unit to attack Bougainville. He started his tour of foreign service in September 1942 and was stationed on the Fijian Islands, the New Hebrides and Guadalcanal before coming to this key island.

"He is taking part in his first offensive campaign.

"Son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. McGee, 308 Western avenue, Benton Harbor, the sergeant attended All Saints' parochial school at Gladstone, Mich., and was a member of the Merchant Marine for eight years before entering the service eight months before Pearl Harbor. He will round out a regular army hitch (3 years) on April 24.

"The Combat Infantryman badge is the second award McGee has received within a year. While stationed in the New Hebrides, he was presented with the Soldier's Good Conduct medal for 'loyal and efficient service' over a 12-month period of war-time duty."

RADIO TOWER GETS ANTENNA

New Unit Put On 200-Ft. Tall State Police Spire

A new vertical antenna is being installed atop the radio tower of the Michigan state police department on the bluff, it was learned yesterday.

Installation is in charge of John Wilson, Marquette, radioman for the department in the Upper Peninsula.

Climbing of the 200 foot tall spire will be done by Elmer Janderjohn, Lansing towerman.

The antenna, which is of vertical type, will be set in place through the use of a winch. Likewise a winch will be used to lower the old antenna to the ground.

Horn-McDonald
Miss Phyllis Arlene Horn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Horn, Chicago, and Lt. Robert D. McDonald, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McDonald, Gladstone, were united in marriage at 7 p. m. on Saturday, May 6, in Immanuel Congregational church, Chicago.

Attending the couple were Mrs. Lawrence Koenig, cousin of the groom, as matron of honor, and Rodger McDonald, brother of the groom, as best man.

The bride was charming in a gown of white satin and georgette with fingertip veil and she carried an arm bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Fraternity Temple at 4328 Kedzie avenue.

Lt. McDonald is with the Army Air Force and at present is instructing pilots in the art of flying Liberator bombers at an Army field at Smyrna, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McDonald, parents of Lt. McDonald, attended the wedding.

Transcontinental RR Commemorated
A new 3-cent stamp commemorating the 75th anniversary of the completion of the first transcontinental railroad in America has been received here and is now on sale. It is announced by Postmaster B. R. Micks.

The stamp is arranged horizontally and is printed in purple by rotary process. The central subject depicts the celebration ceremonies which took place at Promontory, Utah, May 10, 1869 on the occasion of the driving of the last spike in the completion of the transcontinental railroad.

PLAN MEMORIAL DAY PROGRAM

Legion To Have Parade And Cemetery Ceremony

Manistique post of the American Legion will again sponsor a Memorial Day observance here. A parade and cemetery service will feature the observance.

Speaker for the occasion will be Rev. Meldon Crawford, pastor of the Methodist church, who will discuss the significance of Memorial Day at the cemetery ceremony.

Beginning at 10 a. m. the line of march will form at the old gymnasium. The parade will push off north on Maple, turn left on Elk to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Monument. Here a brief pause is scheduled while Legionnaires fire a salute. The parade will then travel south through the business district, turn left on Oak and left on Main to the cemetery.

Legionnaires are asking that servicemen home on furlough, members of the Legion Auxiliary, Boy and Girl Scouts, Woodmen of the World and high school bands, join in the parade promptly at 10 o'clock.

"The Legion is asking every citizen to join the nation-wide observance of Memorial Day," Legion Commander Frank Pavlov said yesterday. "Memorial Day has a greater significance for us this year than ever before. Let us all meet to pay tribute to our honored dead in the present and past wars to pledge our all-out support of the men who even now are preparing for the greatest onslaught the world has ever seen, and to unite in solemn prayer that victory and peace will come soon."

Band Master Ferd Gorsche announces that the Woodmen Band will rehearse tonight at 7:30 o'clock in preparation for the Memorial Day program.

Noted Statesman To Speak June 3 At Marquette

A number of Manistique persons are planning to attend the graduation exercises of Northern Michigan college on June 3 at which the distinguished statesman and scholar, Carl J. Hambro, will be the speaker.

Mr. Hambro is considered one of the outstanding leaders of the world today. He is president of the Norwegian Parliament. In 1938 he was president of the League of Nations. In addition, Mr. Hambro is a famous orator. Because of the rare opportunity offered people of Upper Peninsula to hear a world famous person, many people from this area are expected to go to Marquette. Tickets are necessary for admission, but no charge is being made. Interested persons may contact local chairman, A. F. Hall, for tickets.

The program begins at 10 a. m. Saturday, June 3.

Bobo Newsom Gets Revenge On Tigers, 3-2; Cubs Rout Jinx, Win 9-1

DETROIT DROPS 12 HOME TILTS

Only One Victory Scored In 13 Games Played At Briggs Field

BY WATSON SPOELSTRA

Detroit, May 26 (AP)—Blustery Bobo Newsom got a measure of revenge on the Detroit Tigers today by gaining the pitching victory in a 3 to 2 decision by the Philadelphia Athletics that ran Detroit's home record to one victory in 13 games and six successive defeats.

Last week at Philadelphia, Old Bobo lost to the Tigers and Paul Trout on two unearned runs, but this time things evened up for Newsom. The A's gathered three unearned runs off Trout, and Jittery Joe Berry came on the scene in the ninth to save Old Bobo's victory.

The victory gave the Athletics a 3 to 0 series edge. The teams met again tomorrow with Hal Newhouse facing Russ Christopher of the A's.

Trout, who went down to his fourth defeat against five victories, yielded nine hits, but the two Detroit errors were particularly damaging. By scoring two runs in the first and one in the third the A's beat Trout for the first time since 1942. Trout had beaten them seven successive times.

Scores Unearned
With two out in the first, Ford Garrison was safe on Joe Hoover's error and stole second. Frank Hayes, who thrives on Detroit pitching, doubled to right, scoring Garrison, and then came home himself on Dick Siebert's single off Eddie Mayo's glove.

In the third George Kell singled and went to second on Roger Cramer's error. Hayes presently came through with a run scoring single to left, but again the score was unearned.

The Tigers, who were blanked yesterday by Luman Harris, hadn't had a run in 17 innings off Philadelphia pitching going into the ninth. In fact, in two games they had put only one man on third base. That was Joe Hoover who beat out a bunt in the eighth and took two bases on Kell's overthrow of first. Hoover was left stranded.

In the ninth Rudy York and Pinky Higgins walked, and Manager Connie Mack notioned Newsom out of the game, sending in Berry. Jimmy Outlaw greeted Old Jittery Joe with a single to left, scoring York, and Chuck Hostetter bounced to Siebert, whose throw to second was too late to catch Outlaw, filling the bases.

But Berry worked out of this situation by getting Bob Swift on a called third strike and inducing pinch hitter Paul Richards to fly out, Higgins scoring. Don Ross then batted for Hoover and lined to center field where Roberto Estalella made a nice running catch.

SPURTS GET INDIANS
Cleveland, May 26 (AP)—The Washington Senators staged two uprisings, one a 13th inning stand, to defeat the Cleveland Indians 5 to 3 today, chalking up their third consecutive triumph over the last-place Tribe.

George Case banged a two-run single into center in the 13th, after Rich Ferrell and Johnny Sullivan hit safely.

A three-run rally in the seventh put the Senators into the lead, but an Indian tally in the same inning sent the ball game into overtime.

Early Wynn pitched the distance for Washington.

YANKS BLANK SOX
Chicago, May 26 (AP)—Big Ernie Bonham shut out the White Sox with six hits before 25,766 to-night and the New York Yankees opened their inaugural western trip with a 4-0 victory. It was Bonham's first triumph since April 30.

The champions utilized five of their seven hits off Orval Grove and Gordon Maltzberger to rack up their fourth straight win. Grove wild-pitched the first run home in the fifth. Rollie Hemsley had singled, going to third when Leroy Schalk, Chicago second baseman, interfered with his going to second on Mike Milosevich's grounder. A throw from Shortstop Jimmy Webb had gone through Schalk to right field. Bonham then singled Milosevich home from second, where he had wound up on the error.

The Yankees inserted a pair of sacrifices for their final runs. In the eighth Bonham walked, moved up on George Stranewski's double, and scored on Ed Levy's bunt. Singles by Don Savage and Hemsley, wrapped around Johnny Lindell's bunt, scored in the ninth.

ELEVENTH BEATS BROWNS
St. Louis, May 26 (AP)—The Boston Red Sox, scoring twice in the eleventh inning after two were out, defeated the St. Louis Browns 4-2 tonight. Joe Cronin, whose fly in the ninth tied the score, drove in what proved to be the winning run.

PITCHER OPTIONED
Albany, N. Y., May 26 (AP)—Optioning of Ogden Wise, right-handed pitcher, by the Pittsburgh Pirates of the National League to the Albany Senators of the Eastern League was announced today by President Tom McCaffrey of the Albany club.

But Barney Ross had only begun to fight the night of May 31, 1938, when he took a close fight and many thought, Jimmy McFarlin had won. And they might even have guessed he would win it back the third time they met which he did.

But otherwise they would have guessed his future as that of all fighters—the inroads of the years, the eventual loss of his ring honors, and oblivion.

In their wildest flight of imagination they would never have pictured that today, 10 years later Barney Ross would be more in the public eye than ever, with an enviable record of service to his country and an honorable medical discharge from the United States Marines.

The Sports Parade

By Ken Gunderman

The total number of schools competing in the Upper Peninsula Relays here next Tuesday will not reach the record entry lists of pre-war years when more than 20 schools competed in the Escanaba track classic, but the 1944 entry list will be representative and will provide a good distribution within the three classes. At least one school, Hancock, will be entering for the first time in the 17 year history of the Relays.

The exact lineup of schools competing in the Relays here Tuesday will not be known until all of the entries have been received. The schools that have already submitted entries, however, include the following: Ironwood, Negaunee, Kingsford, Manistiquette and Escanaba in Class B; L'Anse, Baraga (of Baraga Township), Munising, Hancock and Gladstone in Class C; Hermansville, John D. Pierce, Eben and Channing in Class D-E. Several other entries are expected, including Stephenson in Class C and perhaps Soo in Class B. Iron Mountain may send a token entry.

Junior league baseball apparently will "take hold" in Escanaba this year. More than 40 youngsters turned out for the opening meeting this week and it is likely that more will join as the league gets organized. It is a healthy sign for the rejuvenation of baseball in this community. Not so many years ago, a junior league in Escanaba contained no less than eight teams and in addition there were several so-called independent teams playing teams from nearby communities. Given half a chance, baseball will come back into its own here.

The popularity of night baseball in the big league is evidenced by the attendance figures. Average attendance in the majors this season is slightly above 8,000 per game, but the average attendance for the night games is 13,800. Although several big league clubs bitterly opposed the installation of the Mazdas, the trend is to more and more night games. It is a safe bet that all of the clubs will have lighted fields when the equipment is available. The gate receipts tell the story and money talks—and loud.

"Why is it that during a baseball game, a pitcher in the box can make a bluff throw to second or third, if either or both bases are occupied, but if a pitcher bluffs a throw to first with a man on that base, the bluff constitutes a balk?" This is a question that Al Mameaux, former pitcher and recreational director of the Federal Telephone and Radio Corporation, is asking umpires, managers and old time players. None has yet provided an intelligent answer.

Only 10 years ago, but it might have been yesterday except for the world-shaking events that crowded themselves into the intervening years.

No one watching the agile, muscular little guy dancing and sharp shooting his way to the decision and the welter championship that night could visualize what lay ahead for the happy warrior. They might have guessed that he would lose the title to the same man the next time out, as it was a close fight and many thought, Jimmy McFarlin had won. And they might even have guessed he would win it back the third time they met which he did.

A Lot Happened To Barney Ross In Span of 10 Years

BY WHITNEY MARTIN

New York, May 26 (AP)—The place is bleak and deserted now, a vast, weed-grown pock mark on the Long Island flats and they do say that an still nights eerie noises resembling the early roar of a mob swell up from the tiers upon tiers of vacant seats, and ghostly figures flit about in frenzied, unceasing activity in the heart of the arena.

They might be only the re-bounds of that night 10 years ago this Sunday, of course, when two little men slugged it out in the heat and glare of lights which only intensified the surrounding darkness that hid yelling thousands.

It was a bitter, dog-eat-dog fight from which one of the participants was to emerge as something of a hero, judged on the then prevalent standards. He was adding a third if you count the synthetic junior welter title to his list, and that, in those days when our heroes were identified with the prize ring, gridiron and baseball field instead of the battlefield, was triumph supreme.

Won Biggest Fight
The little guy who emerged the hero that night today holds no title, but oddly enough he is a greater hero than ever he was when he fought to the roar of the crowd and the tinkle of the cash drawer.

He is Barney Ross, a flat-panned, friendly little fellow, his black hair streaked with becoming gray, his sturdy body wound-scarred and fever-wracked. He couldn't go 15 rounds now, but long after he had hung up his gloves he fought, and won, a fierce fight against overwhelming odds in the terrifying, rain-drenched blackness of the Guadalcanal jungle, and he prizes the silver star awarded for gallantry more than he would all the prize fight titles from flyweight to heavyweight.

Only 10 years ago, but it might have been yesterday except for the world-shaking events that crowded themselves into the intervening years.

No one watching the agile, muscular little guy dancing and sharp shooting his way to the decision and the welter championship that night could visualize what lay ahead for the happy warrior. But Barney Ross had only begun to fight the night of May 31, 1938, when he took a close fight and many thought, Jimmy McFarlin had won. And they might even have guessed he would win it back the third time they met which he did.

But otherwise they would have guessed his future as that of all fighters—the inroads of the years, the eventual loss of his ring honors, and oblivion.

In their wildest flight of imagination they would never have pictured that today, 10 years later Barney Ross would be more in the public eye than ever, with an enviable record of service to his country and an honorable medical discharge from the United States Marines.

TWO LICENSES REVOKED HERE

Three Other Establishments Suspend By Commission

The Michigan Liquor Control commission yesterday revoked the licenses of two Delta county establishments, denied renewal of a third license and suspended temporarily three other licenses, following hearings conducted at the local offices of the commission.

Revoked by order of Commissioner Felix Flynn, who conducted the hearings yesterday morning, was the SDD license of Eugene A. Beaudoin, 1406 Ludington street, and the tavern license of Charles Johnston, Ford River Switch. Beaudoin's SDD license is not affected by the order.

Beaudoin was charged with permitting the consumption of whisky on SDD premises. He was found guilty and his license was ordered revoked immediately.

Johnston was charged with possession of whisky on tavern premises. He also was found guilty and his license ordered revoked, effective June 5. Johnston's establishment is known as "The Switch" and is located near the village of Hyde.

Elmira Cardinal, Rapid River, was found guilty of unsanitary conditions of the establishment. The license was suspended more than a month ago and was not renewed May 1. The commissioner ruled that the establishment will not be eligible for a new license. The original complaint was filed by the state department of agriculture and was reaffirmed by an investigation of the liquor control commission.

Joseph Oster, 322 Ludington street, charged with possession of liquor on a tavern license, was found guilty and his license was suspended for a 15 day period, beginning June 5.

Clarence Wright, who operates the Grand Hotel, 1323 North First avenue, Escanaba, was convicted of possession of whisky on tavern premises. His license was ordered suspended for a 15 day period, beginning June 5.

Frank Jandro, 1402 Wisconsin avenue, Gladstone, charged with selling to minors, also was found guilty and his license was ordered suspended for seven days, beginning June 5.

Fred Kinkella, North 15th street, Gladstone, was found guilty of selling to minors and was given a suspended sentence.

Palmer Jergenson, Escanaba, accused of having his establishment open after hours, was also given a suspended sentence.

The case of Mary Budzis, 900 Delta avenue, Gladstone, was referred to the full commission for hearing. She was accused of selling to minors.

Public Is Invited To Court Of Honor Of Munising Scouts

Rev. Arthur C. DeVries, chaplain of the Marquette prison, will be guest speaker at a Boy Scout Court of Honor which will be held at the city park at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, May 28.

All Scouts and Cubs are asked to assemble with the band, at Mather high school at 2 o'clock. They will march to the city park at 2:15. Following flag raising, while "Call to Colors" is played, they will be in the Scout oath by Paul Young, of Marquette, Scout executive of Hiawatha council.

Atty. George Baldwin, advancement chairman, will make special mention of the lifesaving award which this council hopes to secure for Arthur LeVeque, for his heroic efforts in saving the life of Larry Leureman from drowning at Twin Lakes three weeks ago.

The Mather school band, led by Miss Waters, will play several selections. In case of rain the program will be held in the Mather high school auditorium.

The complete program follows: 2:00 p. m., Assembly at Mather high school (Band, Boy Scouts, Cubs). 2:15., March to City Park. 2:20. Band selections, Anchors Aweigh, and Trombones Triumphant. 2:35. Flag raising, with "Call to Colors" by members of band. Scout Oath, Scouts led by Paul Young.

2:40. Court of Honor, George Baldwin. 2:45. National Anthem, School band. 2:15. Guest speaker, Rev. Arthur DeVries. 3:35. "Star Spangled Banner" (Group singing). Adjournment.

NEW CAFE OPENED

The Munising Cafe operated by Nick and Chris Bouth was opened to the public yesterday in its new location. The building purchased recently by the Bouth brothers has been entirely remodeled and refurnished. New fixtures have been installed and many changes made in both the main dining room and the kitchen. Because all of the stock has not yet been received the formal opening has been postponed for at least two weeks.

Emphasis In Draft Goes To Men Under 26 Years

Analogizing the present draft situation with a baseball game, Major William J. Myers, of the state headquarters of Selective Service yesterday told representatives of local draft boards and appeal officers here, "The men 18-25 are at bat; the men 26-29 are 'on deck'; and those over 30 are 'in the dugout' but they still know the score."

Both Major Myers and Major Arthur A. Holmes emphasized that registrants under the age of 26 years, with relatively few exceptions, will be called to military

Farewell Party

Rapid River—A most enjoyable party for the three boys, members of the 1944 graduating class, who left Sunday night for Great Lakes having enlisted in the U. S. Navy, was held Saturday, in the Congressional Aid rooms. The boys honored were Albert Larson, Stanley Rushford and Stanley Pyke. The party was sponsored by Mrs. Albert Larson, Mrs. Zeph Rushford, Mrs. Louis Whaple and Mrs. Stanley Pyke Sr. Featured at the party was one of the luncheon tables at which all members of the senior class were seated. The centerpiece was a beautiful cake, made by Mrs. Pyke, decorated in red, white and blue with the names of the three boys on it and a Navy insignia. Games were played and the boys were each presented with a gift of money.

Guests present other than the senior class and high school students were: Mrs. Olaf Pearson, Phyllis Grandchamp, L. E. Klug, Laverne Christiansen, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Wellman, Mr. and Mrs. Myron Whaple, Mrs. Joseph Kerekes of Chicago, Zeph Rushford, Mrs. Emma Larabee, Mrs. George Demit, Albert Larson Sr., Stanley Pyke Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Christiansen, Mrs. Bob Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ames and Julian Ames, Louis Whaple, Mrs. Edwin Nelson, Mrs. Burt Ames and son, Kenneth of Gladstone, Rodger Nordlander of Ensign and Miss Mary Ann Scott.

Mrs. Eugene Aube arrived Tuesday morning from Edmonton, Canada for a two week's visit at the Todd C. Ewald home. Mrs. Aube is doing clerical work with the U. S. government. Mr. Aube who is a member of the U. S. Coast Guards at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich. arrived Wednesday and is a guest at the T. C. Ewald home.

Second Lieutenant J. Gilbert Tienert has arrived safely at the Hawaiian Islands, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Sherwood have been advised.

Miss Evelyn Smith, a member of the graduating class, left Saturday for Chicago where she will join her sister, Miss Inez Smith, and he employed there.

Mrs. Raymond Gravelle and baby who spent the past winter with relatives in Marquette have returned to their home here to spend the summer.

Mrs. George Goodchild and grand daughter, Gerald Goodchild of Iron Mountain visited between buses, Wednesday with relatives enroute to Flint to visit members of her family.

Pvt. Carl Stone who has been in the South Pacific for the past two years spent a three weeks furlough with his mother, Mrs. Lizzie Stone of Stonington. He left Wednesday for Flint to visit service within the next few months, but that liberal deferment standards must be recognized for men 26 to 38 and particularly for men 30-38 years.

"Find a Reason" Major Holmes explained that up to the present time the draft emphasis has been placed upon quantity but the time has now arrived when greatest consideration should be given to quality.

"We urge all local boards now to try to find a reason to grant occupational deferments to men over 26," Major Holmes said. "The armed forces do not want men over 26 at present."

The two Selective Service officers stressed the need for the induction of men under the age of 26 years and explained that no men in this group may be deferred in Class 2-A or 2-B without direct authorization from the state director of Selective Service. They added that authorization is given in rare cases and then only when such registrants are vital employees of specially designated critical industries.

Major Myers reported that men under 26 years of age engaged in agriculture may be continued in 2-C classifications when it is proved that they are making a full contribution to the production of food, but informed the local boards that at least 10 to 15 per cent of the men under 26 now deferred must be reprocessed for induction.

Occupational deferments may not be granted to men under 26 engaged in lumbering, logging, mining, commercial fishing, or sailing on the Great Lakes, the army officers reported, even though the induction of men in these industries would force the closing of some important war production operations.

Average Age 27 Years "We put this problem up to the army and they replied that if the induction of men under 26 in these occupations would curtail those operations, the army was prepared to get along with less production but not with less young men," Major Myers said.

Major Holmes explained that the average age of men in the U. S. Army is 27 years, compared with an average age of 22 for men in the Navy and only 20 1/2 years for men in the U. S. Marine Corps.

Men classified as acceptable only for limited service should be reclassified in 2-A or 2-B if they are engaged in any industry that is essential to war production or to public health, safety and interest, Major Holmes said. He added that this policy should be adopted for all limited service from 18 years old upwards. The army has no further need for limited service soldiers, he explained.

Both speakers praised the local boards in the upper peninsula for an exceptionally fine job, declaring that the draft boards north of the Straits have "led the parade" in proper interpretation of directives and in fulfilling their obligations.

Major Myers reported that over a half million men from Michigan have been inducted into the military services, representing 10 per cent of the total population and 28 per cent of the state's working force. Draft quotas will be substantially lower, however, he added, reporting that the anticipated quota for July will be only 40 per cent of the April quota.
